OBITUARY

YOUNG PORTUGUESE LADY PASSES AWAY

One of the popular members of the younger set of the local Portuguese passed away at her residence, No. 4 Salisbury Avenue, Kowloon, on Tuesday, in the person of Miss Aurea Angela dos Remedios, at the early age of 19 years. She had been ailing for the past two months and died from pernicious anaemia.

Deceased, who was a daughter of Mr. J. C. dos Remedios, one of the oldest members of the staff of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, and the late Mrs. dos Remedios, who is popular in a large circle of friends. She was well-known in the field of amateur theatricals and was formerly a teacher at the St. Mary's School (Italian Convent Branch) Kowloon. She was also a member of the association of the Children of Mary and of the Ladies' Section of the Club de Recreio.

She is survived by her father, two sisters, Misses Dalin and Cinie Remedios and three brothers, Messrs. Hector, Hugo and Leo Remedios. The last named is a Reverend Brother at the La Salle Brothers' College, Penang, and came to Hongkong on a visit only a short while ago. Much sympathy will be extended to them.

The funeral took place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Happy Valley, yesterday evening, there being a large gathering of friends and relatives at the graveside. The last rites were conducted by the Rev. Father L. M. Rossi, following a service in the Chapel. The chief mourners were the deceased's father and two brothers, Hector and Hugo.

Preceding the cortege from the Monument to the cemetery, there walked a procession of pupils of St. Mary's School, with their teachers, and also members of the Sodality of the Children of Mary.

Family wreaths included those from "Sorrowing Dad," "Dalin and Cinie," "Hector and Hugo," "Carmen, Marie and Terry, Teresa, Sauehos, Ina Carvalho, Gussy, Connie and Joseph Pereira, Marie, Geraldine, Roza, and Marie, Figueiredo, Tuti and Cecilio, Noronha, Ethel Lopes, Fredillo, Lily and Lucy Sanchez.

Other wreaths were sent by Mr. and Mrs. Anulphy, Mrs. L. S. J. S. Britto and family, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Gnan and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. da Luz, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Married Flirts

McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOTALING and DEERX HILLS. Lila expects to live in luxury, while Gypsy intends to go on with her job, teaching in a settlement school. After returning from her honeymoon in Europe Lila invites the Weavers to dinner. Among the guests is wealthy MARKO BROUGHTON, who once asked Gypsy to marry him. He showers her with attentions which she accepts because she is jealous of Tom's interest in LILA BLANCHARD. After the party Tom and Gypsy quarrel, but peace is later restored.

CHAPTER XIII.

Tom stared at the box he held in his hand. "But, darling, it's magnificent! How did you ever do it?" Then he remembered. He was not just any husband, worrying about bills. He was Gypsy's Tom and this was Christmas Day, when anything might happen. Just the same, the platinum watch rather worried him. Gypsy must have gone deeply into debt to buy it. What an adorable thing she was!

Gypsy's heart was going very fast. She stared at him with round eyes. "You mustn't ask questions, dearest, on Christmas Day."

He kissed her, penitent and ashamed, his heart fairly swelling with love for her. Gypsy opened all her packages. Little squeals of delight greeted the scent, the gloves, the flowers. She put the book under her pillow and the candy on the coffee table. She said, and truly, that she loved it all. . . she loved everything, and he was a smart boy, to remember her likes so well.

Then they had breakfast. Gypsy's woolly rose dressing gown was belted about her slim figure. Her curls were tossed, and her eyes bright. Their first Christmas together was being a great success. She had even set up a tiny tree in a corner of the living room (Derek had been right!). Later they would go to mid-day dinner at her mother's house. Tom had brought the car into the city the previous week-end, so that their bundles might be transported in comfort.

Under her happiness she felt the tiniest pin-prick of compunction for deceiving Tom. The temptation to take Marko's money had been too great for her to resist. After all, she argued to herself, it wasn't a gift—or even a loan. It was payment, for value received. At least, in the near future she would meticulously render Marko her careful services in his library. Why, then, did she feel guilty? Tom would not approve? It must be that. However, she wasn't going to let the thought spoil her happy holiday. Everything would come out all right. Tom need never know about the pact, or if he did later, it could all be satisfactorily explained.

They drove off, just after noon, in the little car, the rumble seat crammed with gaily wrapped bundles. Gypsy snuggled close to Tom's side. What fun Christmas was! It had a special, a different flavour from any other day in the year.

There was turkey. There was cranberry sauce. There was plum pudding. The old house wore wreaths in all its windows. The hall smelled of fir boughs and fruit cake and candle-wax. Mrs. Morell had her hair waved; there was a flush in her thin cheeks.

"Dear children! No, you're not late—Cltye was just basting the bird. Daddy's down at the furnace. He'll be upstairs in a minute. You run up and lay your things off in my room, Gypsy. Cousin Lou is in yours and I don't believe she's dressed yet."

Cousin Lou was a spare, smiling, middle-aged woman from Asbury Park, always included in the Christmas group. Mr. Morell looked around the table with a swelling sense of life's goodness. A man had his shares of burdens and worries—often he didn't know how he was going to make both ends meet—and then Christmas came along, and he was thankful just to have his dear ones gathered around him. There was Gypsy and that nice boy she'd married. Gypsy was all right. He didn't have to worry about her. A couple of years back, he hadn't quite known. . . Gypsy had been going places with that oldish, rich man. He and Mother hadn't liked the idea. But then the thing had straightened itself out. All his worry had been for nothing. Gypsy had fallen in love. Now she was starting life as he and Mother had. There wasn't much money, of course, but the boy was young and clean and ambitious. Gypsy was taken care of.

No one would have known, watching his lined and prosaic countenance, as he sliced meat and spooned dressing, that such thoughts were his. "Some of the white meat, Bertram? I guess he thinks the second joint is choicer." The old white china, with its gilt bands, the deep blue glasses, the rose wreathed plates for the pudding—all, all were in their accustomed places. This was Christmas, with all the good old things as they had ever been. Morells had eaten from this china 100 years ago, thought the father gravely, and would 100 years from now, please God!

Cltye rolled in with fresh plates, rolled out again with laden ones. She was brave in a stiff new uniform to-day. Her crinkly hair had been "straightened" for the occasion. Gypsy was cracking walnuts for Cousin Lou. Across the table, the girl twin squeaked joyously at some joke of Tom's. Gypsy's new scent was much admired and every one exclaimed over his or her gifts. They all felt expansive and happy. Afterward this sense of well-being would deepen into drowsiness. The younger one would go off to coast, the elder ones would steal a nap, perhaps. But at the moment all was cosiness and laughter. Gypsy collapsed into her favourite deep chair by the fireplace, afterward.

"I didn't know I was so tired until this instant," she confessed luxuriously. "We were up until all hours. I hadn't wrapped any of my packages. . . and I had to trim the tree. . . Tom said he proposed a walk in half an hour or so. Did anyone want to come along? Gypsy stifled a yawn. She knew, she said, that a walk would do her worlds of good, but she wasn't going to have one. She was going to curl up on the sunroom couch and snatch 40 winks.

So the party separated, as family parties have a way of doing. The wind outside blew colder, the early dusk fell and the lamps were lighted. In the kitchen regions Cltye clattered cheerfully away with the last pans. She would don her new purple silk presently and go off to the African church in the village. The bill that Mr. Morell had given her crackled enticingly in her purse. Cltye was thankful. She experienced the Christmas spirit.

The house quieted down. Mr. Morell dozed by the fire in the living room, his wife and Cousin Lou played checkers at a table nearby and in the sunroom Gypsy, curled up under an old Paisley shawl, tried in vain to sleep. At first she had been desperately drowsy but, once she had stretched out, she had come stark awake and her conscience had begun to prick her anew.

What a fool she'd been (she thought) to let Marko talk her into this! It would only mean keeping a secret from Tom and he'd never in the world understand it. Well, she would work out the $50 with Marko—she would give him the very best she knew how to give in the way of labour—and then she'd not see him again. Marko's way of living was too insidiously easy for a young working wife. He made things so soft, so luxurious.

At long last she fell asleep to dream troubled and uncertain dreams in which Marko Broughton, wearing a long beard and flourishing a big stick, threatened her with dire happenings.

She woke, trembling all over with nervousness. Tom was standing over her, big and young and vital.

"What's the matter, darling? Think you see a ghost?" "Oh, I had such a dreadful dream!"

He put his arms around her. "Lazybones, that's what comes of eating too much dinner and going to sleep. I've walked miles. I feel great."

She sat up, shaking the sleep out of her eyes. "Where is everybody?" "They're congregated in the (Continued on Page 10.)

ENGLISH GIRL MAKES GOOD IN HOLLYWOOD

Pat Paterson's Work In "Bottoms Up"

What a surprise Pat Paterson handed out to her British friends and admirers when, after only three months in Hollywood, she married the French actor, Charles Boyer, at Yuma, Arizona.

From the moment Pat Paterson arrived in Hollywood she was an enormous "hit." Petite, the possessor of a perfect figure and small, exquisite features, she has a charming speaking voice and aptly fulfills that oft-quoted "charming English rose" description, applied to British girls.

Pat, who was born in Bradford and is 22, was given a starring part in her first American film, "Bottoms Up" which starts a run at the King's Theatre on Sunday. It was her work in the British production, "The Right to Live," that caught the eye of the Fox chief, Winfield Sheehan, when he was over here last year and resulted in an immediate test and contract.

Charles Boyer, who is 34, was last seen by filmgoers in this country in the Lillian Harvey production made in Germany, "The Only Girl."

The Hongkong Chinese Choral Society, comprising a group of enthusiastic singers from the Chinese community and under the able directorship of Mr. J. A. Miller, L.R.A.M., has been enjoying a year's successful existence, having broadcast twice on the local station. In view of the hot season now setting in, the Society will suspend its practices to renew them next September. The summer vacation will be marked by an outdoor social gathering to be held at Fir House, Pokfulam Road, next Sunday, June 3, at 7.30 p.m.

FASCISM AROUSING DEMOCRATS

The growth of Fascist propaganda in Britain is having the effect of creating a strong counter-movement amongst those who believe that the real aim of the Black Shirts is to destroy democratic sentiment and put the process of progressive evolution out of gear. Unemployment, low standards of life, and economic hopelessness have, it is contended, prepared the ground for the Fascist creed, which is being made more attractive by the wearing of uniform by its adherents, this latter being an element in the propaganda which is considered to have a marked psychological effect on the people. Another point on which opponents of the Fascist concept lay stress is that, under the name of national reconstruction, political and economic freedom is being placed in jeopardy, with the workers' interests subordinated to capitalistic interests. So strong is the feeling against Fascism developing that efforts are now being made for a concerted movement by the working classes to combat the influences which are considered to be harmful to democratic principles. Amongst the ideas outlined in this programme is the bringing of pressure on the Government to secure a reduction in working hours and the evolving of a plan for increasing the purchasing powers of the workers, coincident with bold, financial schemes to prevent damage to the nation's trade. Bold, large-scale measures with a view to relieving unemployment are also advocated, these to include a comprehensive public works scheme, in which category is placed the need for construction of new arterial roads, the reinforcement of river-banks, the sinking of artesian wells, and the provision of new reservoirs in rural areas, so as to prevent recurring water shortages. At first glance, it might appear that plans such as these bear very little relation to the combating of Fascism, but the sponsors of the movement are working on the principle that Fascism, being permeated with reactionary ideas, cannot persist in the face of a united, non-bureaucratic movement armed with definite plans for the purpose of effecting national reconstruction. The clash of ideas is most pronounced, with the full force of Trade Unionism being exerted in the effort to defeat the Fascist ambitions. There is little doubt that in the next General Election, the Fascists will make a bold bid for support, but already it is clear that organised Labour is determined to wage war on this new element in British politics.

NOTES OF THE DAY THE DOUGLAS SCHEME

The plan for "social credits" to supplant the existing currency and banking system developed by Major Clifford Douglas, the Scottish engineer and economist, and generally referred to as the Douglas Scheme, seems to be gaining more serious attention abroad than in Britain. In Australia there are already over a thousand Douglas Credit Societies with a membership of 500,000 and New Zealand has sixteen M.P.s committed to its advocacy. It will be interesting to observe the reactions of the United States where Major Douglas is now campaigning, although it has already been indicated that the idea has received sufficient support to lead to the drafting of a plan for applying Douglas economics to the State of New Jersey.

"CONSERVATIVE LENIN"

Major Douglas is a sort of "Lenin of the conservatives," who believes that to-day's troubles are due principally to a mere technical defect in the present system of industrial economic bookkeeping, and may be remedied by a peaceful overturn of that system without disturbing private ownership or any of the rest of the system of production and social life as they are to-day—except banking and money. He believes that private production of goods is best for the world generally—that inasmuch as it has shown the ability to produce more than is required, it should be let alone. This is where he differs from Socialists, Communists, Fascists, and other ists who concentrate their panaceas on securing control of the means of production.

PILING UP DEBTS

The Douglas theory is that where the world has failed is in viewing the crisis as one of overproduction and not primarily of under-consumption. What is needed is to create credits for all consumers which will enable them to buy what is produced. The price of anything, Major Douglas contends, must always, under the present system, be A plus B—A being all wages, salaries, and dividends, and B being banking charges, taxes, raw materials, overhead. Both go into the price of goods. But since only the A part is consumer purchasing power, A can never equal A plus B, and the difference must continually be made up by money credited by banks, borrowed from banks, and bearing interest. Thus a continually increasing debt structure is created, and the lag between consumer purchasing power and cost of goods grows wider.

JUST PRICE

Major Douglas proceeds to argue that the remedy is to calculate the value of goods produced, and, taking the power to issue money and credit from private hands, to issue national credit directly to consumers in proportion to the amount of goods produced, which is the real wealth of any community. This implies the establishment of what has been termed The Just Price. Buyers, on taking their credits (in the form of a new kind of money) to a store, would pay for goods a Just Price, which would be below apparent financial cost, but at a true cost fixed by a calculation of the percentage by which production exceeds consumption. It might be thought that retailers would lose by such a "consumer discount," but this is not so. The seller turns in an account of his "loss," and is reimbursed from a National Credit Account. Thus production and consumption are balanced, everyone shares in the "national dividend" of consumer power, and the problem of the world is solved without confiscation, expropriation, nationalising of banks, class war, or political revolution.

GREAT ECONOMIST

Major Douglas is a stocky, ruddy, well-groomed English squire type. He was an engineer rather than an economist, and was with Westinghouse in India prior to the war. At that time he returned to England to become assistant superintendent of a Government aircraft factory and was impressed by the idea that England emerged from the war "poor." Having seen her productive plant increase greatly during the war years, he felt that she was really "richer" than before. Directly after the war he began writing on economics, and some of his followers now claim that he is one of the three great economists, ranking them as Adam Smith for capitalism, Karl Marx for Communism, and Major Douglas for economic democracy.

CHINA SCORNS REVENGE IDEAS

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

CHINA would join neither side in event of war between Russia and Japan.

So Dr. Wang Ching-wei, president of the Executive Yuan and virtual Prime Minister, told me, in an exclusive interview at the foreign office in Nanking.

After Japan's seizure of four of China's richest provinces, her attack on Shanghai, and her hegemony threat against all China, the world has generally believed that China would jump at the chance to help any country defeat Nippon.

That would seem to be her only chance.

Somewhat surprised, I asked Mr. Wang why.

"China," he replied in a low voice, "stands to lose in such a war, no matter which side wins."

EARNEST WISH FOR PEACE.

"Far from desiring war between Japan and the Soviet Union so we may fish in troubled waters, our most earnest wish is for peace."

"If Russia should be decisively defeated, China would be left at the mercy of a militaristic neighbour. There would be nothing to prevent a further advance into this country."

"Should Japan be defeated, there would be nothing to check our other powerful neighbour."

China and Russia are now on most friendly terms. But the Chinese have been trained to think in decades, and even centuries. Now and for a long time to come, China's security, in large measure, depends upon some kind of balance of power in the Far East.

PINS HOPE ON AMERICA.

"Should these two countries go to war, therefore," Dr. Wang continued, "China could hardly choose sides. On the contrary, she would seek to keep out of it and pin her faith on the League of Nations and America to save her from the aftermath."

Here was another surprise. Most Chinese leaders with whom I had talked were frankly sceptical of the League's value to China in her time of peril.

"The League and America did not save China in Manchuria or at Shanghai," I observed. "What leads you to believe they would be any more effective in future?"

"I'm afraid you mistook my meaning," he said. "The existing world peace machinery is widely discredited, I know. I do not expect it to prevent war between Japan and Russia, if that is to come."

"But what I do foresee is that, should it come, the world would face such a frightful situation afterwards—regardless of which side won—that it would be obliged to act, if only to save itself. And to save itself, it would, of necessity, have to save China along with it."

Mr. Wang Ching-wei did not pursue the subject further. There came a silence. Outside it was getting dark. The room was filling with deep shadows.

In the gloom his low resonant voice sounded prophetic. The Chinese were an ancient race long before the coming of Christ and there was some of the accumulated wisdom of the millenniums it seemed to me in what he had said.

Here was one of the most solemn warnings the world has had since President Woodrow Wilson told the peacemakers at Paris that only a world leagued together to insure peace could save humanity from suicide.

I broke the spell.

"So China does not expect to participate in a Far Eastern war to get back Manchuria," I said.

"No," China's philosopher-statesman replied. "She lacks the power. It would not improve her position."

"Besides, Manchuria has not been taken from China. It is merely occupied by a foreign foe. Sooner or later the military occupation will end and everything will be as it was before."

"There are rumours," I remarked, "that China will eventually recognize Manchukuo. That would put an entirely new face on the recognition problem for the other nations."

"China will never recognise the new status in Manchuria," replied Dr. Wang. "Henry Pu Yi in his swallow-tail coat as regent, or Henry Pu Yi in his Dragon Robes as emperor, is all the same to China. He is still a traitor."

"When the military power that now sustains this puppet show falls in Manchuria, the puppets will fall with it."

Mr. Wang Ching-wei is one of modern China's finest brains. He is 51 years old, but looks almost 20 years younger. He could easily be in his middle thirties.

But only time could make his voice as mellow as it is, and only a tremendous amount of thinking could give it its tone.

What he said about Manchuria, I have since heard repeated in high places many times over. The Chinese have a tremendously calm way of looking at their country's plight.

Most of them admit things will probably get worse before they get better, but, as the Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Hsu Mo expressed it to me, in perfect English:

"Yet, I somehow have the utmost confidence that, in the end, China cannot lose."

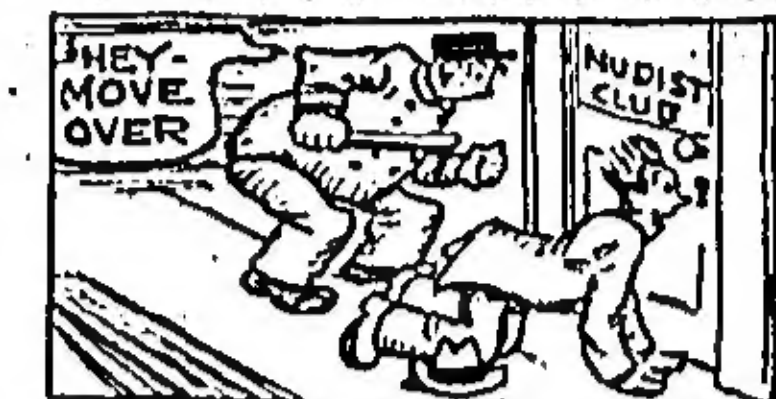

The Very Idea!

NECK OR NOTHING

By George

LATEST reports indicate that the nudist movement is doing as well as can be expected.

It is naturally one of those movements that outstrip all others with the bare exception of the opposition who are going for them bald-headed.

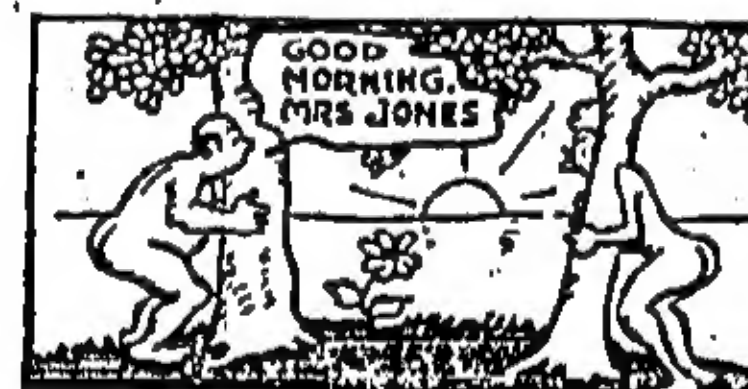

With the hot approach of the sun, the nudist's thoughts naturally turn to just how rude he and she can be this season.

When summer comes my thoughts intrude. On facing nature in the nude, (Oh, blushing one!) But when it comes to facing others Sisters and perhaps their brothers I must confess I'm fearful. For though by faith I'm not a prude There are some people think it's rude (Oh, blushing one!) To dress like anybody's lovers With modesty our only covers—And that a modest hairfull!

Struggling along with not a rag to their backs, the movement is yet making good—though what, still remains to be seen. The nudists protest that there is nothing more to be seen and it would indeed be obscene to doubt them but we are still inclined to think there is more in the movement than meets the eye.

When so many narrow-minded, harping-carping, flouting-doubting and other critics are bent on crushing this little flower in its bud it is up to us to put our foot down, not forgetting to look before we leap.

It is a shameful indictment of modern civilisation that while purity and virtue in the most innocent and natural forms which a hallowed love of the body can produce should be struggling upward through the murky grime of a twisted and perverted sense of convention and stilted Victorianism subjected to the immature and ignorant criticisms of contemptible contemporaries—gez. us!

When he and she went walking out, 'Twas in the altogether, He said: There's romance in the air. She said: It's lovely weather, Oh, Mr. Lane, I see a park, Do let's go sit together.

And when upon a stone he sat She said: Now don't get sore; A little inconvenience Makes Nature in the raw, And walking in the streets these days, For nudes, is such a bore.

So Mr. Lane, despite the pain, Sat down to admire the vista, And very soon, the tender coon, Was sitting on a blister, Quoth he: I must vacate my seat I feel that it is scarcely meet, To stay here, Little Sister.

When he and she went limping back (Plus one embarrassing blister), Believe it or believe it not, He hadn't even kissed her, And when she said: It's getting dark, I've left my hanky in the park, Old Lane stroked his whisker.

And said: My dear, I really think The time has come to talk Of things apart from cats and kings And going for a walk, Now wipe your nose upon a rose And be a good little nudist For we must be home by six o'clock.

lead the conference back to the Anglo-French-American agreement of October, 1933, barring German rearmament.

M. Barthou quoted Sir John Simon's previous declaration against permitting German rearmament and then ironically cited the British Minister's speech today in favour of a return to the British January Memorandum permitting Germany moderate rearmament.

The Commission adjourned until Friday, probably to allow the excitement of the Simon-Barthou clash to subside.—United Press.

SIR JOHN SIMON'S SPEECH

The Franco-German Differences

The prospects of the Disarmament Conference were frankly reviewed by Sir John Simon in the course of his speech expressing the views of British Government on the situation.

If the speeches in debate were to be useful they must, he said, deal with the realities that now faced them and he proceeded to address himself to some of them, recalling that during the last six months, since the work of the Conference was adjourned to permit of parallel and supplementary efforts being carried on, the British Government have been very closely associated with these efforts. He referred, in particular, to the United Kingdom Memorandum of January 29th, and the statement, textually approved by the German Government, which Britain obtained of modifications in the memorandum which Germany was prepared to accept and which included a concession to heavily armed powers that there should be no disarmament for first five years of a ten years' convention.

NO PROGRESS.

He was grateful for what Mr. Norman Davis had said as to the value of these efforts but they had not produced a new basis of agreement and as the President pointed out on Monday: "In view of the opinion expressed in the French memorandum of April 17th, it seemed that diplomatic negotiations between the powers could hardly be carried on any further."

Dealing with the circumstances in which these diplomatic negotiations were entered upon Sir John Simon recalled that, in November, the conference found itself unable to proceed to a second reading of the draft convention—with any solid hope of thereby reaching a universal agreement.

Germany was absent and some method had to be found to keep her in touch in the hope of bringing her back within the ambit of discussion and negotiation, with a view to an ultimate agreement. For an international agreement about armaments necessarily involved amongst other things, that Germany should be a party to it.

DIFFERENT VIEWS.

The French Government, in a memorandum of March 19th, expressed concurrence with the phrase in the previous United Kingdom memorandum that the reconciliation of the points of view of France and Germany was an essential condition of a general agreement.

What, he asked, were the essential differences which divided these two points of view as they emerged from the documents exchanged between the various powers?

In its statement of views of April 16th, the German Government defined the rearmament for which it stipulated in the proposed convention, at the same time declaring that it would agree to a postponement of the reduction of the armaments of other powers until the end of the fifth year of a ten years' convention.

GERMANY'S CLAIM.

If, therefore, an international agreement was to be reached, either their claim must be modified or conceded. If they really desired to do business in the conference it was essential that this issue should be faced and dealt with now by those principally concerned.

Germany claimed that the convention, if it followed the general lines already approved by the vote of General Assembly, should accept a level of German armaments higher than that provided in the peace treaties in the extent indicated in the document of April 16th.

FRENCH STAND.

On the other hand, it appeared from the French document that they would desire to stand fast by the

MR. OLIVER AUSTIN

DIRECTOR OF MUSIC IN BOURNEMOUTH

SUCCEEDING SIR DAN GODFREY

The many friends of Mr. Frank Austin, Hongkong manager of Messrs. S. J. David and Co., will be pleased to learn that his nephew, Mr. Richard Dennis Oliver Austin, has been appointed Director of Music to the Bournemouth Corporation, in succession to Sir Dan Godfrey.

The appointment, which takes effect from October 1, carries with it a commencing salary of £1,000 a year.

Mr. Austin, who is 31, is at present conductor at the London Coliseum. He studied at the Royal College of Music, and in 1928 was musical director of the Bristol Orchestra, and subsequently conductor of the Bristol Symphony Orchestra. The Christmas production of Hansel and Gretel at the Cambridge Theatre was also conducted by him. His father is Mr. Frederick Austin, the well-known singer, composer, and operatic director.

Sir Dan Godfrey, who will retire at the end of September, has been associated with the Bournemouth Municipal Orchestra for over 40 years. Starting with a small military band in 1893, he fostered interest in music in Bournemouth until he was ultimately able to build up a symphony orchestra which has made Bournemouth the chief centre of musical activity on the South Coast.

One case of small-pox and three cases of meningitis were reported to the health authorities on Tuesday.

limits suggested at the meeting of the Bureau on October 14th last, with the modification contained in the French memorandum of January 1st.

Suggestions made in October propounded a basis which would have admitted of no immediate rearmament of Germany other than an increase in quantities proportionate to a gradual transformation of the Reichswehr and the arms which she was, by treaty, entitled to possess.

Germany had rejected that suggestion and the contrast between that proposal and the formulated requirements of Germany of April 16th was obvious.

Were those suggestions, in the present circumstances, a possible basis of an international agreement? The Conference would make no progress by avoiding or burying these crucial points beneath merely general observations.

BRIDGE BUILDERS.

His Majesty's Government had done their very best to be bridge builders.

By end of this general debate they ought to see more clearly where the foundations for such a bridge must be laid if the gap was to be closed. They could see already how overwhelmingly grave the consequences must be, if after all this effort and these prolonged debates, no bridge could be built.

In the opinion of the British Government, the draft convention which the conference had adopted as the basis still afforded the best solution. Realising, however, the serious consequences of failure to reach an agreement, they determined to formulate the modifications which found expression in the memorandum of 29th January.

It contained proposals regarded not as ideal, but as most likely of acceptance. The close approximation between that memorandum and the German declaration showed that the differences were being narrowed.

CONCRETE PROPOSAL.

The British Government felt that the line of that memorandum was more likely to produce an agreement than any other concrete proposal.

His Majesty's Government were strengthened by the most interesting memorandum put forward by the Danish, Spanish, Norwegian, Swedish and Swiss delegations, the main conclusions of which seemed to be in close accord with those of the United Kingdom memorandum. It was true that in the view of these powers, security should go beyond the proposals of United Kingdom memorandum. That was question not of principle but of degree, and he pointed out that Part One of the United Kingdom draft convention dealt with security among lines on which they held hope for the sympathy and co-operation of the United States.—British Wireless.

GHASTLY MURDER.

VICTIM OF INTRIGUES OF TIBETANS

Simla, May 30.

The gruesome murder of Lungshar, former commander-in-chief of the Tibetan army, is reported from Lhasa.

The man's eyes were first put out and he was then put to death by torture.

Lungshar enjoyed the confidence of the late Dalai Lama, and the murder is apparently a result of intrigues on the part of a new party which is gaining power in Tibetan politics.—Reuter.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

"Moulin Rouge," the romantic musical, starring Constance Bennett in her first appearance for Joseph M. Schenck's and Darryl Zanuck's 20th Century Pictures, a United Artists release, comes on Sunday for simultaneous showings at the Alhambra and World Theatres. Its story, based on a French stage success of the same name, will serve to introduce Miss Bennett in her first dual role, as a singer of songs especially written for her by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, who composed the memorable hits in "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" and "Roman Scandals." Surrounding her is a cast which includes Franchot Tone; Tullio Carminati, stage star of "Strictly Dishonorable"; Helen Westley, one of the founders of the New York Theatre Guild and a star in many of its productions; Andrew Tomba and Russ Brown, comedians in numerous New York stage shows. The Boswell Sisters and Russ Columbo, famous radio stars are another attraction of the film. Sidney Lanfield, who directed "Society Girl" and "Dance Team," directed "Moulin Rouge." Miss Bennett portrays both a stage-struck wife of a play-wright and Raquel, gifted but notorious French music hall artiste. The plot has to do with the efforts of Helen to convince her husband that she should follow a career rather than make a home for him. It accounts for complications which include the situation of the husband making gallant love to her while thinking she is Raquel, and so putting himself in jeopardy of a divorce suit. The story gathers considerable dramatic momentum, and features at all times between comedy and romance. Its action, for the most part, takes place backstage of an important New York revue and in the Park Avenue penthouse of the actress Raquel. Miss Bennett introduces two songs "Coffee in the Morning" and "Kisses are the Best Things." Tullio Carminati sings "Song of Surrender." Chorus trained in intricate modernistic dance routines by Russell Markert, who originated the Roxyettes in Radio City Music Hall, appear recurrently in numbers keyed to the underlying rhythm of the picture. The picture was produced on an exceedingly lavish scale, and marks Miss Bennett's debut in Musicals.

"The Girl in 419" Motion picture stars are often suggested by newspaper headlines. But B. P. Schulberg, leading producer, has enjoyed the experience of seeing newspaper headlines paralleling a motion picture. The picture is "The Girl in 419," romantic drama which comes to the King's Theatre on Friday. Arlene Dunn and Gloria Stuart in leading roles. The film centres around a girl, brought into an emergency hospital badly beaten and unconscious and saved by the head of the hospital, who is intrigued by her beauty. When she awakes, she does not know who she is, and is not to be sent out of the hospital and pleads for protection. Schulberg, reading the newspapers one night when "The Girl in 419" was nearing completion, found an item telling practically the same story. A gangster's girl, thrown out of a speeding car, was taken to a hospital, recovered consciousness, and begged the authorities not to release her when she was well again. It must, he thought, be the same story. The similarity of his bit of fiction and this bit of fact, attributed it solely to coincidence. Miss Stuart is "The Girl in 419" and Dunn is the doctor who ultimately straightens out her tangled life and his own. Others in the cast are David Manners, Jack LaRue, Shirley Grey, Johnny Hines and William Harrigan.

"Headline Shooter" Thrills run rampant and romance progresses at a mile-a-minute pace in "Headline Shooter," RKO-Radio Pictures realistic melodrama of a daring newsreel cameraman, which is now showing at the Central Theatre with William Gargan and Frances Dee leading a commendable cast. The film moves at a breakneck speed embracing some of the most remarkable action shots ever caught by the camera. Spectacular episodes during an earthquake, a disastrous fire and a great flood highlights the story. William Gargan makes a deserved big newsreel cameraman with his excellent performance of the newsreel cameraman in "Headline Shooter." Frances Dee scores mightily as the newspaper girl and Ralph Bellamy as Hal Caldwell.

"This Side of Heaven" At last, an average American family has been immortalized in a motion picture production in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, "This Side of Heaven," which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre. The picture tells the story of a typical middle-class family, whose acerbic, tragedies, romances and aspirations clash almost simultaneously. As the head of the family, Lionel Barrymore comes through again with one of his masterful performances. At a time when other members of his family are facing their greatest crises, Barrymore becomes involved innocently in an embezzlement at his office. He attempts suicide but is saved by the concerted efforts of his family. A new face to the screen, but one of the best, is the performance of Evelyn Venable. Mary Carlisle, so successful in other good portrayals and who admits she has never attended college— is seen as the younger daughter of Barrymore who believes marriage is too old-fashioned for a girl with her modern views on life. Henry Hankins, a recent recruit from the Broadway stage, plays the part of Miss Carlisle's flailing youth. Miss Carlisle's flailing youth. Miss Carlisle's flailing youth. Miss Carlisle's flailing youth.

brand of Southern humour and C. Henry Gordon lays aside his mask of villainy to portray Barrymore's boss. Others in the cast are Tom Brown, Onslow Stevens, Eddie Nugent and Dickie Moore, all deserving of honourable mention. William K. Howard did a splendid job of directing.
"Ever Since Eve" The three days of shopping and fittings estimated as necessary to provide George O'Brien with 16 changes of attire for his role in his current Fox Film, "Ever Since Eve" at the King's Theatre, dwindled to the five minutes necessary for George to make a list of the outfits on the back of an envelope. He has everything needed in his own wardrobe—dinner suits, formal morning and afternoon attire, riding habit, and all the rest. "One of the principal reasons I'm glad to get out of Western pictures," said O'Brien "is that a great many people seem to think my personal wardrobe consists of a pair of chaps, a black shirt, a 10-gallon hat, and a pair of boots." Herbert Munday, Mary Brian and Betty Blythe also will back in starring roles in the picture which George Marshall directed. Others in the cast are Roger Imhof, Russell Simpson and George Meeker.
"The Mystery of Mr. X" Robert Montgomery has collected police souvenirs and literature all his life. Now at last he has won a starring role in a film based on the operations of Scotland Yard, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new thriller, "The Mystery of Mr. X," which opens on Saturday at the Queen's Theatre. In his Beverly Hills home the star has a sacred room. It is full of police collections: Choice books, case histories, glistening rapers, pistols from police departments all over the world. A public official in London, a close friend of the actor, has sent him many tokens surrendered by criminals apprehended by Scotland Yard. Hanging over the room's fireplace is a slim, graceful-looking walking stick, such as many well-to-do Englishmen might own. But a close examination reveals it to be a sword-cane, one of the most vicious of criminal weapons. Its former owner was seized, fortunately, before he could use it. A similar sword-cane was fashioned by the studio's property department as the murder weapon used by the murderer "X" in the new film. A tray of gems sparkles brilliantly under a glass case in the room. These too, are from Scotland Yard. Duplicates of famous gems confided in hidden safes, they were robbed from their owners and seized in subsequent arrests. His library includes many volumes on such subjects. Blackjacks are festooned from the ceiling, pistols are everywhere. Hints from the native police of certain parts of Africa are hung on wooden pegs in long columns. Commenting on his hobby, Montgomery shrugged: "They help me to relax. Nothing like a good tan-rattling yarn or the sight of those

One of the best matches in to-day's "B" Division tennis league programme promises to be that between Kowloon Cricket Club and the Club de Recreio.

The Recreio, who last year finished third, have a strong combination, and the K.C.C. will need the advantage of playing on their own courts in order to win.

Dunne remains absent from the K.C.C. side owing to a lawn bowls engagement, and W. Gittins will probably come into the side to partner C. I. Stapleton. Burnett will again line up with R. B. Lewis and Gray and Oppenheim will constitute the third pair.

The promoted C.R.C. side will also be up against a useful proposition in visiting South China Athletic Association, and it is doubtful whether more than two sets will separate the teams at the close.

BOXER MATCHED

OPPONENT FOUND FOR BRILKA

An opponent has been found in Hongkong for Max Brilka, the German boxer, who arrived in the Colony at the beginning of the week from a tour of various other cities of the East.

Yesterday afternoon Prof. S. M. Fernandez, the well-known local physical culture specialist, presented himself at the office of the S. C. M. Post and intimated that he was prepared to accept the challenge issued by Max Brilka, if there is any promoter who might be interesting in staging a contest.

Prof. Fernandez has been in Hongkong for the past three years and has been engaged in physical culture training. He came here from the Federated Malay States, where he states he was the 1st. boxing champion. He is still under ten stone in weight.

A record crowd of 40,000 attending the historic Penn Relay Carnival in Philadelphia saw records fall on track and field. An outstanding performer was Ralston Legore (left), North Carolina, who hurled the javelin 224 feet 7-8 inches, bettering the old mark by more than nine and one-half feet. A famous record-breaker on the cinder path was Glenn Cunningham, Kansas star, pictured at right breasting the tape to win the mile event from Gene Venke in 4:11.3, a new meet mark. Venke was 15 yards behind at the finish.

HITLESS FOR EIGHT INNINGS

Senators' Experience Against Yankees

New York, May 30. A rare pitching feat by Whitehill of the Yankees saw Washington Senators hitless for eight innings to-day, but the Senators finally scored a run and then blanked out their opponents.

Cleveland were moved out, as were St. Louis, but in the National League, the Giants won with ease. Scores as called by Reuter, follow.

HARE AND AUSTIN AS WELL

ANOTHER SAD DAY FOR ENGLAND

THREE DEFEATS.

Paris, May 30. Britain's interest in the French tennis championships is now practically extinct as a result of to-day's matches.

They saw Miss Kathleen Stammers beaten very easily in the women's singles, H.W. Austin and C.E. Haru eliminated from the men's doubles after five set matches with Borotra and Brugnon, and Miss J. McAlpine and Miss Barbara York make their exit from the women's doubles.

Miss Margaret Scriven in company with Jack Crawford managed to survive another round in the mixed doubles at the expense of Mrs. Howard, another Englishwoman and Brugnon.

Miss Stammers was disappointing against Fraulen Aussem in the singles quarter-finals, winning only six games in two sets. The German girl was rarely extended and won her points whenever necessary.

Against two such experienced campaigners as Borotra and Brugnon, "Bunny" Austin and young Hare did extraordinarily well to take the match to the fifth set.

The Englishmen won the first and third sets and took the fourth to ten games before fading out. It was a disappointing tennis.

GOOD SHOWING.

Miss McAlpine and Miss York have no reason to feel disgraced concerning their result. Opposed to what is regarded to-day as the strongest ladies combination in the world—Madame Mathieu and Miss Ryan—the English girls carried the encounter the full distance, and the Franco-American had to play 36 games before winning.

A fierce fight for the first set terminated in favour of the English girls at the 18th game, but the effort appeared to cost them a lot, and Madame Mathieu and Miss Ryan hit back to gather the next two sets both at 6-0.

Scores as called by Reuter were.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

Quarter-finals

Fr. C. Aussem (Germany) beat Miss K. Stammers (England) 6-4, 6-2.

Women's Doubles

Madame Mathieu (France) and Miss Ryan (U.S.) beat Miss J. McAlpine and Miss B. York (England) 8-10, 6-3, 6-3.

Men's Doubles

Brugnon and Borotra (France) beat Austin and Hare (England) 4-6, 6-3, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

Mixed Doubles

J. Crawford (Australia) and Miss Scriven (England) beat Brugnon (France) and Mrs. Howard (England) 6-4, 2-6, 6-0.

Rome, May 20.

In the II Duca Polo Cup contest held in Rome, between the teams of France, Hungary, and Italy, the first game, between Hungary and Italy, ended in a draw at 4-4. Then the French beat the Hungarians by 3 to 2, and the Italians by 3 to 2.

GERMAN DAVIS CUP HOPE.

Berlin, May 22. Germany's only hope for the Davis Cup, young Gottfried von Cramm, romped to easy victory to-day against stiff International competition to win the annual Berlin championship tournament, defeating the Italian champion Palmieri in the finals 6 love, 6-1, and 7-5.

Germany's ranking woman player, Marie Luise Horn, also easily defeated the dashing Californian Elizabeth Ryan in the finals for the women's title in straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

JAPAN'S 100 ATHLETES FOR BERLIN

Country Stirred By Far East Games Successes

Tokyo, May 24. Spurred by the success of their athletic delegation in the Tenth Far Eastern Championship Games, Japan to-day plans on sending more than 100 athletes to the Olympic Games in Berlin in 1936.

Until the early part of 1933, it was indicated to-day, the various teams that will make the trip to Berlin will be in almost constant training.

Japanese athletic officials believe that the Far Eastern Games held in Manila, have given the Japanese teams valuable experience this year.

Because the field meets in Japan, however, will undoubtedly develop many new stars before the Berlin event, it is probable that only part of the winners who made the trip to Manila will participate in world olympic competitions.

Japan's athletes develop very early in their school life and one problem will be to keep some of those who are now holders of international records and winners in Manila, from getting stale.

To widen the experience of the newer men, athletic associations plan to invite several foreign athletes of note to visit Japan this summer and next for a series of contests. In fact three of America's outstanding swimmers have already been contracted and will compete in the national swimming championships this summer.

Some of the best American track and field stars are expected to give the Japanese a thorough tryout for their newer men.

Japan at least has not retrogressed since the last Olympics as evidenced by their powerful showing at Manila where the Nipponese mermen made a clean sweep of the tank events except the 220-meter breast-stroke, and captured a goodly number of the track and field events, including the general championship.

It is expected they will be leading contenders at Berlin in the swimming events, the dashes, jumps, and pole vault.

Young military officers are determined that the fine records for horsemanship made at Los Angeles shall be repeated.

Meanwhile, all circles are planning a vigorous campaign to bring the Games to Tokyo in 1940.

242 FOR THE SECOND WICKET

BY SANDHAM & GREGORY

SURREY'S HUGE SCORE

VISITORS FIELD ALL DAY

London, May 30. A 48 year old second wicket record was shattered at the Kennington Oval to-day, when Andrew Sandham and J. Gregory of Surrey put together 242 while playing against the Australian Test team.

The previous record, established by F. W. Hearne and M. Read, was 191, and was made for the South of England eleven at Gravesend in 1886.

The Australians, as a result, had a tiring time chasing the ball in the first day's play of their match against Surrey. The county batted all day to compile 372 for three wickets.

Sandham was magnificent and stayed until stumps were drawn, remaining unbeaten with 201 to his credit. He hit without blemish all round the wicket, scoring his runs in 330 minutes, and having one six and 21 fours to his credit.

Gregory gave him wonderful support, and the pair collared the Australian attack to such an extent, that 242 runs were added before Gregory left after hitting up a vigorous 116, which had sixteen boundaries as chief hits.—Reuter.

MOTOR RACING

Marathon Proceeds At Isle Of Man

London, May 30. Ideal weather favoured the "Man-in-Big" international motor-car race which is being run in on the Isle of Man to-day.

It is organised by the Royal Automobile Club. The distance is 50 laps of a three and a half miles circuit. At end of 25 laps the leaders were Dixon, in a Riley, whose speed was 72.63 miles per hour, Black in an M.G. Magnette, 71.27 miles per hour, Eyston, in an M.G. Magnette, 71.22 miles an hour.—British Wireless.

AMBITIOUS SOCCER SCHEME

SPORTS FOR THE WORKERS

EXPERIMENTS BY NATIONS

London, May 24. A very ambitious scheme of International Soccer matches between the workers of many European nations has been arranged in connection with the "Tolpuddle martyrs" centenary celebrations to be held at Dorchester at the end of August and the beginning of September. Previous plans, owing to certain European complications, have had to be changed, but a more ambitious scheme now has been launched.

Mr. H. H. Elvin, Chairman of the National Workers Sports Association and a member of the T.U.C. General Council, interviewed in London, said: "It has been decided to form a Western European sports zone, and the first thing to be inaugurated is a football competition. The countries interested will be Great Britain, Belgium, France, Holland, Switzerland, Spain and the Saar. Matches will be played at Dorchester between a British team of the National Workers Sports Association, and representatives of Workers Sports Associations in Switzerland, and France. Another match is to be played at Henden between England and Belgium, and further fixtures will be arranged later.

"We have launched out on a bold experiment. It has been decided to form what is termed the National Workers Football and Sports Ground Company, to provide sports grounds for the workers throughout the country. The persons associated with the venture include Sir Stafford Cripps, M.P., Mr. George Cadbury, jun., Mr. Pethick Lawrence, and Cha. Malone. We have secured a football ground at Henden which will be the headquarters of the London Labour Football Club.

"There will be a match between Britain and Palestine, and this latter team will also be playing in the international competition at Dorchester. Our aim is to produce amateur teams of trade union and labour players equal to any in the country.

DRASTIC BAR TO P. I. TENNIS PLAYERS

L. T. A. SEEKS TO RESTRICT

FOREIGN TOURNAMENTS & LOCAL PLAYERS

New Rules Contemplate Wide Powers

The P. I. lawn tennis association will curtail the privileges of local tennis players to play abroad at their own accord. Officials of the association are reported drafting rules that will restrict the local tennis stars from participating in tennis tournaments in other countries. Before any can engage in competition abroad permission must first be secured from the P. I. lawn tennis association.

The promulgation of the rules regulating competition on foreign soil by local net stars will be made by the P. I. lawn tennis association for the purpose of protecting the interest and welfare of these players, it is stated. The association, as the highest tennis body in the Philippines should sanction every trip abroad of local tennis players for the purpose of participating in tournaments.

Dr. Regino R. Ylanan, national physical director and secretary-treasurer of the P. I. lawn tennis association is a strong advocate for the inclusion of a provision restricting local players from competing on foreign soil, in the constitution and by-laws of the association.

Germino de los Reyes, one of the officials of the P. I. lawn tennis association also expressed an opinion that this rule will do more good to the tennis players. Other members of the association also concur in the same view, and when the matter is taken up at a near meeting of the association it is certain of being passed.

The officials of the P. I. lawn tennis association are now concerned with the finding and building up of new tennis talent. With the exception of Leonardo Gavin and Rodrigo Diaz there are no other young players who could be developed into championship calibre at present.

It is understood that the association will plan an extensive campaign for the training of young tennis players with a view to improving their play. A drive in the provinces to interest

NO TENNIS FOR WOMEN

IN NEXT ORIENT OLYMPICS

P. I. TO SEEK INCLUSION

Tennis for women will not be included as a regular event in the 1938 Orient Olympics which will be held in Tokyo. In the last congress of the new defunct Far Eastern Athletic Association a move to include women's swimming as a regular event in the programme of the Far East olympics was approved, but the women's tennis was not discussed due to the absence of a report on the matter from the tennis committee of the P. I. lawn tennis association.

The quest to have women's tennis included in the regular events of the Orient olympics was submitted by Germino de los Reyes, official of the P. I. lawn tennis association, to Dr. Regino R. Ylanan, national physical director during the last day of the belated olympics, Monday, and no action could be taken on the matter as the congress has already adjourned and the Far Eastern Athletic Association has been dissolved.

Local tennis officials, however, believe that before the 1938 Orient olympics are held in Tokyo they will again petition to the P. A. A. F. officials to urge Japan to include women's tennis on the regular programme of the Orient olympics. They are confident that the Japanese athletic officials will have no objection to this proposal as they have already signified their willingness to include this event in the next olympics.

The Philippine woman racket players have won the invitation tennis tournament during the last olympics from the Chinese entries. The local team defeated China 4 matches to 1. Mrs. E. Ochoa, Miss B. Calma, Miss E. Alvaro and Miss M. Ochoa represented the Philippines in the last olympics.

The people in tennis may also be started by the association. The P. I. lawn tennis association will encourage tennis enthusiasts in the provinces to pursue their tennis careers by accepting tennis clubs in these provinces as members of the association.

First class tennis players in this city may also be requested to make periodical trips to the provinces to play exhibition games.

Carnera Thinks Baer Is Just Dumb

WHAT ITALIAN GIANT PROMISES TO DO TO HEAVYWEIGHT FILM STAR

London. Primo Carnera is nothing if not cautious. He has been insured by his manager Louis Sorosi, against accident or death until he enters the ring to defend his world championship against Max Baer on June 14.

The policies, which have been taken out with Lloyd's, provide for £30,000 in the case of death and £15,000 against accident.

Carnera is training at Greenville, Maine. He said he was going to do a lot of work. "I'll chop down trees, run through woods and rough it generally to improve my legs and wind."

BAER "DUMB."

"I feel silly doing all this work for an opponent like Baer," he added scornfully. "He's nothing but a great strong guy and the dumbest boxer the world has ever seen. But it is as well to be on the safe side."

And here is what Baer says concerning his meeting with Carnera:

"I will either rush him off his feet from the opening going hoping to catch him in retreat or off his balance, or I will hang fire, feinting and waiting for an opening as he comes in."

"What I will not do is try to clinch or box with Primo. I saw him in action when he knocked out Jack Sharkey last year and I have considerable respect for his ability to drap his massive form over the shoulders of his adversary."

"Carnera won't get a chance to lean on me. He is too big and strong to wrestle with. Anyhow I hope to knock him out before he can try it."

BRITISH OFFER.

An offer has been made to Carnera by three British sportsmen to defend his world's heavy-weight championship against Larry Gains in Leicester at the end of July.

The offer is made subject to Carnera getting the better of Max Baer when they meet in June. When Carnera and Gains last met two years ago Gains won on points. A return would probably be staged in the open air at the White City. Reuter.

In the Lodge Room of the Manuk Lodge of the Theosophical Society, 17, Queen's Road, Central, Mr. J. Russell, Presidential Agent for China of the Society, will give a public lecture this evening at 9 p.m. His subject will be "The Known and the Unknown."

YESTERDAY'S BOWLS

Close Contest In Rinks Competition

Playing in the rinks championship yesterday at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, a rink composed of four senior bowlers from the Club de Recreio defeated a rink of junior bowlers from the Indian Recreation Club by six shots, the final result being 24 shots to 18.

C. G. Silva, the unbeaten Recreio skip, was in fine form. His driving and drawing for shots was very accurate. The Indians drew first blood when they scored two shots in the initial head, but in the next two heads the Recreio were up four shots. Thereafter they had the game well in hand. The Indians registered 11 shots in the last four heads, including a five. The Portuguese had two fours and one three.

The Recreio players, J. E. Noronha, C. E. Marques, F. X. M. Silva and C. G. Silva were opposed by A. M. Omar, M. I. Razack, A. M. Wahab and K. M. Omar.

PAIRS COMPETITION.

In the pairs championship, T. Armstrong and C. Strang defeated J. G. Ozorio and F. V. V. Ribeiro by 23 shots to 16. The winner scored a five in the second head while the losers had a four on the 7th head, and actually took the lead by 10-6.

ENGLAND GOES DRY.

ANOTHER LONG DROUGHT EXPERIENCED

London, May 30.

Part of England has experienced another dry spell and only on four occasions in the past century has the month of May shown so small a rainfall. Unless rain falls before tomorrow, which seems improbable, England will have had her seventh period of drought—fifteen consecutive days without rain—in the past twelve months.—British Wireless.

Omar were given quite a fright by John Pooler and J. Purvis who held the strong Craigengower pair to a final score of 10-17. The scoring was never on the big side and although Bradbury and Omar qualified for the next round a little more luck and the Civil Service pair would have created one of the biggest surprises of the tournament.

W. Ward and R. F. Luz were never seriously extended in their match against A. Macfarlane and L. do Rome on the Civil Service green where the Craigengower couple won by 35 shots to 16.

Playing on the Yacht Club green W. Stoker and W. H. B. Musket beat W. Weir and T. F. Stainton by 29 shots to 17 on the twentieth head, there being no necessity to play the last head which was abandoned on account of darkness.

MARRIED FLIRTS

kitchen, popping corn." Tom told her, "It's eight o'clock. Your father's talking about wanting supper."

"Supper!" Gypsy cried, appalled. "We only left the table a moment ago."

"You've lost count," Tom jibed. He pulled her to her feet.

Arm in arm, they joined the group in the kitchen. Beatrice had her red silk frock covered by a tent-like apron. She was slicing bread. Mr. Morell withdrew his head from the icebox door.

"We're scrambling for supper," he told his eldest daughter. "Come and help."

Gypsy said she couldn't eat a bite. She felt like a Strassbourg goose already. But when at last the impromptu feast was spread, she found herself nibbling at bits of things. A wing of the ravaged bird, a buttered roll.

"Oh, this hot tea is heaven. Mums! I always forget how much I love tea."

Cousin Lou beamed. "Try some of this fruit cake, Gypsy. It's Grand Aunt Mildred's recipe."

Gypsy laughed helplessly. This was Christmas, after all. She would go back to bread and milk on the morrow to make up her dietary sins.

At 10 o'clock she and Tom pulled themselves and their various belongings together.

"Night, Mums. Such a good day, darling. 'Night, Daddy. Remember you're all coming to my place next week."

"Sunday, yes," Mrs. Morell said comfortably. "I declare, I think it's too much for you, Gypsy. Better let it go."

"Nonsense, I'll expect you." There were kisses all around and then the door closed and she and Tom were in the little car together.

"Brr!" Gypsy held her fur collar high. The wind was blither now, sweeping across the flats.

Tom tucked the robe in around her. If only he'd been able to buy her that fur coat! Maybe next year.

Gypsy pushed the thought of Saturday far back in her mind. She'd have to make some excuse to Tom for not meeting him that afternoon. What should she say? She hated lies, but this was one which had to be told.

POLICE EVACUATE.

OLD NO. 8 STATION TO BE DEMOLISHED

Sub-Inspector Miss, officer-in-charge, Sgt. Slater, Sgt. Wainland and the Weihswei and Indian policemen stationed at the old No. 8 Police Station (Upper Levels) at Bonham Road, evacuated yesterday, as the building is to be demolished. A new structure is being erected in the near future.

The old building was originally the Rheinisch Mission and then became the Police Training School for many years, until 1927, when the present Training School building at Mongkok was established.

The European Police officers who evacuated yesterday have been transferred to Police Headquarters at Central Police Station, while the Chinese and Indians are being housed in huts in the vicinity of the Government Civil Hospital.

POPPY CULTIVATION IN CHINA

REPLY TO CRITICISM

Genoa, May 30.
Mr. Victor Hoo, Chinese delegate, speaking before the Opium Advisory Commission to-day in reply to Mr. Fuller's attacks, said that unfortunately he was unable to report any improvement in the situation which had recently become aggravated in China. However, China was determined to carry on the struggle against opium and would welcome any technical assistance of the sort suggested by Mr. Fuller.

Mr. Hoo emphasised that China was more menaced by foreign drugs, clandestinely introduced into her territory, than other countries were threatened by Chinese products. He proposed, first, that the powers should not protect their nationals engaged in illicit traffic; and, secondly, that measures be taken against foreign vessels employed in coastal and river navigation which were engaged in the narcotic trade.—Reuter.

HONGKONG TRADE

REVIVAL SUGGESTIONS FROM CHINESE

Recommendations to hasten commercial and industrial recovery in the Colony, prepared by Mr. Wong Kwong-tin, were submitted to the monthly meeting of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce yesterday for discussion prior to final adoption at the members' meeting scheduled for June 6.

It was indicated by Mr. Wong Kwong-tin, who presided at yesterday's proceedings, that if his proposals and any other proposals to hasten trade revival were passed by the June 6 meeting the whole memorandum would be submitted to the Government for consideration.

Mr. Wong Kwong-tin explained to the meeting that his suggestions included a proposal for Government subsidies to increase and improve the New Territories vegetable, cattle and poultry production, and technical assistance to the New Territories producers.

It was also suggested to explore what other new industries could be developed in the New Territories.

A Communications Question.—The early completion of the Canton-Hankow Railway and linking it with the Canton-Kowloon Railway formed another topic of the memorandum.

A suggestion was made to ask the Government to grant free land, with conditions, to small industrialists, the cost of land being paid to the Government after the expiration of the first three years. The author believed that encouragement to small and new industries should assist materially towards relieving unemployment.

In view of the large number of tenement houses and shops unoccupied, it is proposed to ask the Government to restrict land sales for a period of two years. A committee is to be selected by the Government to examine genuine applications for land sales.

Apart from Mr. Wong Kwong-tin's suggestions, other members proposed the inclusion of two items asking the Government to reduce the water and assessment rates and also to improve the wharf search methods.

Members making the latter motion pointed out that Hongkong being a free port, trade should not be

INVITATION TO WAR

TROOPS FIRE ON MANCHUKUO SHIPS

Harbin, May 30.
The Manchukuo Foreign Office has demanded an apology from the Soviet Government within three days in connection with the shooting by Soviet guards at a Manchukuo ship in the Amur River.

The demand of the Manchukuo Government was handed to the Soviet Consul-General here this afternoon.

The reported shooting occurred on Tuesday at 8.30 o'clock in the morning, when Red Guards fired at the steamer Yang Fu, which was towing two barges. The ship was approaching Tielho at the time.

Another Attack.

It is now learned here that two other Manchukuo vessels, the Wuiann and the Tsanotai, were allegedly fired on by Soviet troops in the Amur River. The time of this second attack is not known here. The casualties also are unknown.

It is further reported that eight Soviet gunboats are now concentrated in the vicinity of Blagoveshensk, on the Amur River.

Invitation to War.

Officials of Manchukuo here are highly indignant at the Soviet action.

They characterise the alleged attacks by the Red Guards as "arrogant and tantamount to an invitation to immediate war."

jeopardised by rigid Maritime Customs' seizure of goods exported to Chinese territory.

Mr. Wong Kwong-tin, in conclusion, invited the members to submit their views on the subject for consideration on June 6.

UNEASY DOLLARS

BRITISH COMMENT ON U.S. AFFAIRS

London, May 30.
The review of a well-known merchant and banking firm, discussing President Roosevelt's silver message, gives the opinion that the price of silver will not rise appreciably, since the large stocks are merely awaiting an opportunity of liquidation.

The sale of American dollars, acquired by eventual sellers of silver, will probably depreciate the international value of the dollar to a point where it will be profitable to export gold or where the relative price of American goods, in terms of depreciated dollars, will become sufficiently attractive to stimulate foreign buying.

The review adds that it is difficult to believe that the American "silverites" did not obtain some unofficial assurance as to what extent the Treasury will implement its new authority.

The review concludes that a new disturbing element of uncertainty, at least, has been injected into the international monetary situation.—Reuter.

NORTH ITALY CLERGY INVOLVED IN WAR

The seminary has a majority of Slovene students, many of whom resent the Fascist policy of "Italianization."—Reuter Special.

CHINA AND JAPAN

ARIYOSHI RETURNS TO SHANGHAI

Shanghai, May 30.
Mr. Ariyoshi, the Japanese Minister to China, arrived this afternoon.

Interviewed by Reuter he declared that he had not yet decided when to see General Hsiang Fu (Chairman of the Peiping Military Council) or when he would be going to Nanking. He denied having received special instructions from the Japanese Foreign Office with reference to the resumption of through traffic on the Peiping-Hankow line.

Kwantung army and the Chinese local authorities.

Japan hopes that the Chinese Government can liquidate her debts to Japan but is not prepared to make definite demands, said Mr. Ariyoshi.

Referring to direct negotiations, the Japanese Minister said that up to the present, the two countries had been negotiating directly. There was nothing particular in such negotiations. Japan was feeling toward China was improving lately and he hoped that China would re-adopt that attitude.

Mr. Ariyoshi said that the Japanese leaders were at one in policy toward China, although they differed considerably regarding internal problems.—Reuter.

COLOMBO DOES A FINE GALLOP

ENLIVENED DERBY INTEREST

COURSE AS HARD AS IRON

A "DEAD CERT"

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic News Agency, London, 1934. Received May 31, 1.35 a.m.)

London, May 31.
The powerful magnet of the Derby is certain to draw an enormous crowd to Epsom next week, with interest intensified by the doubts that have been expressed about Colombo, still a raging hot favourite and still accepted as the best horse bred in England for generations.

The interest is growing daily and the announcement of the final acceptance to-day has brought race followers almost to fever heat.

The extraordinary thing about Colombo is that he has not been backed very heavily. The reasons, mainly, are that few backers are tempted to lay bets at odds of 7/4 at this stage particularly, as his Two Thousand Guineas win was not achieved so easily as expected.

COLOMBO'S FORM.

There was little to choose between him and Epsom up to three furlongs from the end. Colombo then stayed on better, but was under pressure and was only a length to the good. It was generally expected that he would romp home in a canter.

Ante-post bookmakers will, however, feel fully justified in shortening the odds against Colombo after his recent training performances.

BRILLIANT GALLOP.

To-day, Colombo did a brilliant mile and a half gallop, outstripping all his companions, and it can fairly be said that no Derby favourite ever went to the post with better credentials. He has now won all his nine races in succession and is in perfect condition. He was bred from Manna, a Derby winner.

The trouble of those who think he may be beaten is to discover the "surprise" horse.

Mr. John Dewar's Medieval Knight and Lo Zingaro are fancied in some quarters, while Windsor Lad's Chester Vase victory has gained him lots of support.

RICHARDS' CHOICE.

Gordon Richards, the champion jockey, and Steve Donoghue, Epsom course favourite, have not yet chosen their mounts. They have a choice of three. Lo Zingaro, Medieval Knight and Epsom, which ran second to Colombo in the Two Thousand.

Gordon Richards, who has first choice, will probably, it is thought, take Lo Zingaro or Epsom.

BUTTERS' ENTRANTS.

The well-known trainer for the Aga Khan, Mr. Frank Butters, has Umidwar, Badruddin, Achenan and Ali Shah all entered and strong foreign competition is expected, apart from the French-bred Epsom, which was purchased by Lord Woolavington after his Guineas race.

Admiral Drake is carrying much French money, and the Irish-owned Rathmore, and the American-owned Bondaman, have also been well backed recently, although the former has never been placed in any race.

The course at present is as hard as iron and it is likely to be the hardest ever, unless the weather breaks.—Reuter Special.

STRIKE

GROWING

TEXTILE WALKOUT ON MONDAY

Washington, May 30.
The industrial unrest crisis took on a more ominous air to-day, with bad news from the Pacific Coast and threats of general strikes in two of the country's principal industries.

Unless a prior settlement is reached, the United States may have half a million workers on strike in a few days.

Chances of an agreement appear extremely remote. The principal light concerns the workers' demands for recognition of their union, and the principle of the closed shop, that is, the employment of only union labour.

The big industrialists are determined to fight the issue.

COTTON STRIKE.

A general strike in the cotton textile industry has been ordered by Mr. Thomas F. McElmason, the President of the Textile Workers of America. The order was issued last night and becomes effective on Monday.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers has announced that a general strike will be called unless the steel industry employers accord them the right to choose their own spokesmen for collective bargaining.

SAN FRANCISCO RIOTS.

Violent scenes were again witnessed on the San Francisco waterfront to-day in connection with the longshoremen's strike.

Eleven persons were seriously injured in a battle between police and a mob of seven hundred men and women, alleged to be Communists.

The waterfront rioters stoned the police and tried to drag them from their horses. The outbreak was finally quelled by the free use of truncheons and tear-gas.—Reuter.

FOURTEEN MILLIONS AS START

COL. TREASURER'S FINANCE REVIEW

STERLING LOAN REDEMPTION.

Nine millions of a fourteen million dollar loan flotation by the Hongkong Government, to be issued in about a fortnight, has already been taken up.

A $5,000,000 public issue will be offered at 99. The interest will be 3½ per cent. and redemption will be by means of annual drawings.

The details were outlined by the Hon. Mr. Edwin Taylor in Legislative Council this afternoon.

The Colonial Treasurer said:—By year Excellency's command I rise to move the first reading of a bill entitled "An Ordinance to make provision for a loan of twenty five million dollars for the carrying out of certain public works, for the redemption of certain inscribed stock and for other purposes."

Honourable members have during the last four years agreed to resolutions providing moneys for various public works and have approved the expenditure on these being charged as advances from the surplus balances of the Colony pending the raising of a loan. During the whole of this period the date on which this loan should be raised has received very careful consideration and in the opinion of the Government the time has now arrived when an issue should be made. Interest rates have fallen to a point never seen before by this generation, especially in Hongkong where it was considered impossible until quite recently for Government to raise money on a 3½ per cent. basis.

LARGE BALANCES.

Fortunately the Treasury cash balances have been so large that the necessity for borrowing money, was never pressing and Government have financed these loan works from its cash surpluses thereby saving a higher rate of interest, which would assuredly have been demanded by lenders. Interest rates may fall lower but they may also rise and it is the considered opinion of Government endorsed by our financial advisers at home that advantage should be taken of the present state of the money market.

Honourable members are of course familiar with all the works enumerated in the Schedule to the bill which have been explained when the various resolutions were taken in the past. The figures opposite the items denote the amounts at present estimated to be spent to complete the works.

TRANSFER PROVISION.

As however the exact expenditure on each item cannot be foreseen provision is made in the bill for the transfer of money from one item in the schedule to another, subject to the approval by resolution of this Council and by the Secretary of State.

There is, however, one new item in the Schedule, No. 7 Redemption of Hongkong 3½ per cent. Inscribed Stock, 1918/42—$3,400,000. The total sterling inscribed stock outstanding amounts to £1,485,733 and it has been decided to repay this on 15th October, 1934, notice to this effect having been given in the London Gazette dated 13th April, 1934. Although Government are under no obligation to redeem this stock before 1943 the conditions of the London Stock market are such that it is most desirable to do so. Cilt edged stocks are now at a higher price than they have been for the last 30 years consequently the securities forming the sinking fund of the Sterling Loan will, when realized, produce a larger amount.

MALARIA DANGER ON NEW G.C.H. SITE

No Indication of Outbreak

The danger of malaria on the site of the new Government Civil Hospital, now being prepared, was the subject of a question by Sir William Shenton in Legislative Council this afternoon.

The Colonial Secretary replied that the site has been under close observation for some time and mosquito surveys are frequently made. Up to date there has been no indication of any outbreak of malaria among the labourers employed on the site. Such anti-malarial measures as may be considered necessary will be carried out as the work proceeds.

Persia is ready to encourage foreign enterprise, but must insist upon her claims that her rights be respected by the countries to which these enterprises belong.

This statement of Persian policy regarding the development of her resources was made by Mirza Sayyed Khan, the Persian Minister to Paris, when addressing the Royal Society of Arts in London to-day.

He stated that the Anglo-Persian Oil Company had developed a great industry following the more equitable agreement reached last year to the satisfaction of both parties.

QUESTION

CHARING CROSS
INSTEAD?

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic News Agency, London, 1934. Received May 31, 11.55 a.m.)

London, May 31.

The controversy over Waterloo Bridge is not necessarily terminated by the refusal of the House of Commons to sanction the L.C.C. scheme.

There is a possibility that the L.C.C. may go ahead without Parliament's approval and support.

When the matter was raised in the House of Commons last night, the members were being asked to reserve their decision made last year.

The new Waterloo Bridge planned by the present County Council is estimated to cost £1,250,000.

CONFLICT OF VIEW.

The House rejected the scheme which calls for the complete demolition of the present structure and the erection of a new bridge on the same site according to a modernistic structural plan.

The question of reconstruction of the bridge has been one of London's most controversial topics for some years past.

Many people insist and emphasize that the state of the bridge demands complete rebuilding for safety's sake.

NATIONAL MEMORIAL

Others argue that it is a beautiful structure that has stood for such a long time as a National Memorial of a great victory and only needs strengthening.

It is argued in the same and other quarters that what is really needed is not a new Waterloo Bridge, but a new bridge over the Thames near Charing Cross.

The Government did not take sides in the controversy last night, but left the issue to the free vote of the House.

COUNCIL FEELS STRONGLY.

Before the vote there were many members of the London County Council, now predominantly Labour, who advocated that if the Government rejected the plan, the Council should build a new bridge, raising the money by other means to compensate for the loss of the Government contribution of sixty per cent. which would have been available if the decision had gone in favour of the plan.—Our Own Correspondent.

DETENTION

Four Chinese deported from Vancouver were brought before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for causing malicious damage on the Empress of Canada whilst the vessel was in Shanghai.

Defendants were Lam Fong, Tsai Fun, Wong Shun-tai and Chung Chung, and they were alleged to have damaged mattresses, curtains, rugs and pillow cases to the total value $83.22.

Det-Sgt. Baker said that when the Empress of Canada arrived at Shanghai, defendants were locked in a cabin to prevent them from going ashore. When the ship left, it was discovered that they had wrecked the whole cabin, damaging almost every piece of furniture that was in it.

His Worship held that as the offence was committed at Shanghai, and not in the waters of the Colony, he had no jurisdiction over the defendants, who were accordingly discharged.

Married Flirts

by MABEL
McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

GYPSEY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA, HOTALING and DEWEK HARRIS. Lila expects to live in luxury, while Gypsy intends to go on with her job, teaching in a settlement school. After returning from her honeymoon in Europe Lila invites the Weavers to dinner. Among the guests is the wealthy MARKO BROUGHTON, who once asked Gypsy to marry him. He shows her with attention which she accepts because she is jealous of Tom's interest in LILA BLANCHARD. After the party Tom and Gypsy quarrel, but peace is later restored.

CHAPTER XIII

Tom stared at the box he held in his hand. "But darling, it's magnificent! How did you ever . . . Then he remembered. He was not just any husband, worrying about Lila. He was Gypsy's Tom and this was Christmas Day, when anything might happen. Just the same, the platinum watch rather worried him. Gypsy must have gone deeply into debt to buy it. What an adorable thing she was!

Gypsy's heart was going very fast. She stared at him with round eyes. "You mustn't ask questions, dearest, on Christmas Day."

He kissed her, panting and amazed, his heart fairly swelling with love for her.

Gypsy opened all her packages. Little squeals of delight greeted the scent, the gloves, the flowers. She put the book under her pillow and the candy on the coffee table. She said, and truly, that she loved it all . . . she loved everything, and he was a smart boy to remember her likes so well.

Then they had breakfast. Gypsy's woolly rose dressing gown was pulled about her slim figure. Her curls were tossed and her eyes bright. Their first Christmas together was being a great success. She had even set up a tiny tree in a corner of the living room (Derek had been right!). Later they would go to mid-day dinner at her mother's house. Tom had brought the car into the city the previous week-end, so that their bundles might be transported in comfort.

Under her happiness she felt the tiniest pin-prick of compunction for deceiving Tom. The temptation to take Marko's money had been too great for her to resist. After all, she argued to herself, it wasn't a gift—or even a loan. It was payment, for value received. At least, in the near future she would meticulously render Marko her careful services in his library. Why, then, did she feel guilty? Because she knew in her heart that Tom would not approve? It must be that. However, she wasn't going to let the thought spoil her happy holiday. Everything would come out all right. Tom need never know about the pact, or if he did, later, it could all be satisfactorily explained.

They drove off, just after noon, in the little car, the rumble sent crammed with gaily wrapped bundles. Gypsy snuggled close to Tom's side. What fun Christmas was! It had a special, a different flavour from any other day in the year.

There was turkey. There was plum pudding. The old house wore wreaths in all its windows. The hall smelled of fir boughs and fruit cake and candle-wax. Mrs. Morell had her hair waved; there was a flush in her thin cheeks.

"Dear children! No, you're not late—Clytie was just basting the bird. Daddy's down at the furnace. He'll be upstairs in a minute. You run up and lay your things off in my room, Gypsy. Cousin Lou is in yours and I don't believe she's dressed yet."

Cousin Lou was a spare, smiling, middle-aged woman from Asbury Park, always included in the Christmas group. Mr. Morell looked round the table with a swelling sense of life's goodness. A man had his share of burdens. A man had his share of joys. And worries—often he didn't know how he was going to make both ends meet—and then Christmas came along, and he was thankful just to have his dear ones gathered around him. There was Gypsy and that nice boy she'd married. Gypsy was all right. He didn't have to worry about her. A couple of years back, he hadn't quite known. Gypsy had been going places with that oldish, rich man. He and Mother hadn't liked the idea. But then the thing had straightened itself out. All his worry had been for nothing. Gypsy had fallen in love. Now she was starting life as he and Mother had. There wasn't much money, of course, but the boy was young and clean and ambitious. Gypsy was taken care of.

No one would have known, watching his lined and prosaic countenance, as he sliced meat and spooned dressing, that such thoughts were his. "Some of the white meat, Bertram? I guess he thinks the second joint is choice." The old white china, with its gilt bands, the deep blue glasses, the rose wreathed plates for the pudding—all, all were in their accustomed places. This was Christmas, with all the good old things as they had ever been. Morells had eaten from this china 100 years ago, thought the father gravely, and would 100 years from now, please God!

Clytie rolled in with fresh plates, rolled out again with laden ones. She was brave in a stiff new uniform to-day. Her crinkly hair had been "straightened" for the occasion.

Gypsy was cracking walnuts for Cousin Lou. Across the table, the girl twin squeaked joyously at some joke of Tom's. Gypsy's nose went up and she sniffed. Every one exclaimed over his or her gifts. They all felt expansive and happy. Afterward this sense of well-being would deepen into drowsiness. The younger ones would go off to bed, the elder ones would stay a nap, perhaps. But at the moment all was coziness and laughter.

Gypsy collapsed into her favourite deep chair by the fireplace, afterward.

"I didn't know I was so tired until this instant," she confessed luxuriously. "We were up until all hours. I hadn't wrapped any of my packages . . . and I had to trim the tree . . ."

Tom said he proposed a walk in half an hour or so. Did anyone want to come along? Gypsy stifled a yawn. She knew, she said, that a walk would do her worlds of good, but she wasn't going to have one. She was going to curl up on the sunroom couch and snatch 40 winks.

So the party separated, as family parties have a way of doing. The wind outside blew colder, the early dusk fell and the lamps were lighted. In the kitchen regiona Clytie clattered cheerfully away with the last pans. She would don her new purple silk presently and go off to the African church in the village. The bill that Mr. Morell had given her cracked enticingly in her purse. Clytie was thankful. She experienced the Christmas spirit.

The house quieted down. Mr. Morell dozed by the fire in the living room, his wife and Cousin Lou played checkers at a table nearby and in the sunroom Gypsy, curled up under an old Paisley shawl, tried in vain to sleep. At first she had been desperately drowsy but, once she had stretched out, she had come stark awake and her conscience had begun to prick her anew.

What a fool she'd been (she thought) to let Marko talk her into this! It would only mean keeping a secret from Tom and he'd never in the world understand it. Well, she would work out the $50 with Marko—she would give him the very best she knew how to give in the way of labour—and then she'd not see him again. Marko's way of living was too insidiously easy for a young working wife. He made things so soft, so luxurious.

At long last she fell asleep to dream troubled and uncertain dreams in which Marko Broughton, wearing a long beard and flourishing a big stick, threatened her with dire happenings.

She woke, trembling all over with nervousness. Tom was standing over her, big and young and vital.

"What's the matter, darling? Think you see a ghost?"

"Oh, I had such a dreadful dream!"

He put his arms around her. "Lazybones, that's what comes of eating too much dinner and going to sleep. I've walked miles. I feel great."

She sat up, shaking the sleep out of her eyes. "Where is everybody?"

"They're congregated in the

OBITUARY

YOUNG PORTUGUESE LADY PASSES AWAY

One of the popular members of the younger set of the local Portuguese passed away at her residence, No. 4 Salisbury Avenue, Kowloon, on Tuesday, in the person of Miss Aurea Angela dos Remedios, at the early age of 19 years. She had been ailing for the past two months and died from pernicious anaemia.

Decensed, who was a daughter of Mr. J. C. dos Remedios, one of the oldest members of the staff of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, and the late Mrs. dos Remedios, who is popular in a large circle of friends. She was well-known in the field of amateur theatricals and was formerly a teacher at the St. Mary's School (Italian Convent Branch) Kowloon. She was also a member of the association of the Children of Mary and of the Ladies' Section of the Club de Recreio.

She is survived by her father, two sisters, Misses Dalin and Cinle Remedios and three brothers, Messrs. Hector, Hugo and Leo Remedios. The last named is a Reverend Brother at the La Salle Brothers' College, Penang, and came to Hongkong on a visit only a short while ago. Much sympathy will be extended to them.

The Funeral.

The funeral took place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Happy Valley, yesterday evening, there being a large gathering of friends and relatives at the graveside. The last rites were conducted by the Rev. Father L. M. Rossi, following a service in the Chapel. The chief mourners were the deceased's father and two brothers, Hector and Hugo.

Preceding the cortege from the Monument to the cemetery, there walked a procession of pupils of St. Mary's School, with their teachers, and also members of the Sodality of the Children of Mary.

Family wreaths included those from "Sorrowing Dad," "Dalin and Cinle," "Hector and Hugo," "Carmen, Marie and Teresa Sanchez," "Ina Carvalho, Gussy, Connie and Joseph Pereira, Marie, Geraldine, Rosa and Marie Figueiredo, Tuti and Cecilia Noronha, Ethel Lopes, Freddie, Lily and Lucy Sanchez.

Other wreaths were sent by Mr. and Mrs. Anuphy, Mrs. L. S. J. S. Britto and family, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Guan and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. da Luz, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Be There—For the Event of the Century!

THE greatest event ever staged in Australia commences in October, 1934, and extends into 1935—the Victorian and Melbourne Centenary.

Crowded days of entertainment and carnival nights will thrill the visitor to this million-perched city from October through lovely summer months. Don't miss being there for the gay days surrounding the visit from England of H.R.H. The Duke of Gloucester.

You'll be enchanted with the mild climate, similar to the South of France, and the attractive European environment—nowhere else in the world will you find such a galaxy of pleasure as will be crowded into the Centenary months. The greatest horse race of the century in the £10,000 Centenary Melbourne Cup pageants... the finish of the greatest air race of all times... Eucharistic Congress... international sporting events.

HUGE GOVERNMENT LOAN SOON TO BE FLOATED

than is required at this date to be set aside.

SINKING FUND SATURATED.

In other words the sinking fund is more than saturated. It is estimated to yield £998,000. Then there is the Sinking Fund of the old 6% Public Works Loan 1927 which will yield £147,000 and the invested surplus funds of the Colony amounting to £114,900 a total of £1,259,900 leaving £226,733 to be found from the proceeds of the present loan. Under item No. 7 of the Schedule $1,400,000 is provided for this purpose reckoning exchange at 1s/4d.

The total advances from surplus balances on account of loan works at the end of this year were estimated when the 1934 Estimates were prepared at $11,108,307. Assuming that the whole of this sum is spent this year, which I do not anticipate, the total money required to liquidate the advance account and to supply the balance of funds for redeeming the Sterling loan amount to $14,508,307.

$14,000,000 AT OUTSET.

It will be observed that Government is taking power to borrow the full $25 millions but it is proposed in the first instance to issue bonds to an amount of $14 millions only, the remaining $11 millions will be issued on one or more occasions on some future dates as required.

The price of issue has been fixed at 99% the bonds giving a flat yield of 3.55% or allowing for redemption over the full period of 25 years of 3.56%. The issue of $14 millions has been underwritten without expense to the Government and of this amount $9 millions has already been taken up leaving $5 millions to the public from whom subscriptions will be invited in about two weeks.

BEARER BONDS.

The bonds will be in bearer form and in amounts of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 with interest coupons attached. No sinking fund will be established but amortization is provided by annual drawings of 1/25th of the amount issued. The first drawing will take place next year when bonds to the face value of 1/25th of $14,000,000 will be repaid on the 15th July, 1935. It will be seen therefore that the whole of

UNEASY DOLLARS

BRITISH COMMENT ON U.S. AFFAIRS

London, May 30.

The review of a well-known merchant and banking firm, discussing President Roosevelt's silver message, gives the opinion that the price of silver will not rise appreciably, since the large stocks are merely awaiting an opportunity of liquidation.

The sale of American dollars, acquired by eventual sellers of silver, will probably depreciate the international value of the dollar to a point where it will be profitable to export gold or where the relative price of American goods, in terms of depreciated dollars, will become sufficiently attractive to stimulate foreign buying.

The review adds that it is difficult to believe that the American "silverites" did not obtain some unofficial assurance as to what extent the Treasury will implement its new authority.

The review concludes that a new disturbing element of uncertainty, at least, has been injected into the international monetary situation.

RUBBER PRICES LATEST SINGAPORE QUOTATIONS

Messrs. Benjamin & Potts have received the following Straits currency quotations (buyers) from Singapore to-day for raw Rubber:

Spot 19 1/2 cts.
July/Sep. 20 1/2 cts.
Oct/Dec. 20 3/4 cts.
Jan/Mch. 21 1/4 cts.
Market: Quiet, with no changes in rates.

This issue will be paid off in 25 years.

With the Sterling loan paid off the Colony's public debt at the end of this year will stand at $4,838,000 in 4% bonds (redemption loan 1933) repayable at par in 1953 and $14,000,000 in 3 1/2% bonds repayable as above in 25 years, a total debt of $18,838,000 which is only a little more than one half of the Colony's present yearly revenue.

Particulars as to method of application, deposit required, together with forms of application for the bonds will be issued when this bill is passed. The loan will be domiciled at the Hongkong office of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China.

MORATORIUM

SIX MONTHS GRACE FOR GERMANY.

London, May 31.

The conference in Berlin between Germany and her long and medium term creditors, which has been in progress since April 27, ended in a partial and provisional agreement. British, French and Swedish delegations undertook to recommend the German offer, provided requirements of their respective governments are satisfied and that liberty of action is retained in the event of the scheme being operated to the advantage of other nationals.

The American delegation gave no undertaking to recommend the offer. The Swiss and Dutch delegations dissented on its terms.

The Dawes and Young Loans are excluded from the proposed arrangement under which bondholders are offered funding bonds bearing interest at three per cent. to mature January 1, 1945, or cash to value of 40 per cent. of the face value of the coupons, payable six months after the due date.

The offer applies to coupons due in the period from July 1 next to June 31, 1935. Payment of principal, interest and sinking fund would be guaranteed by the German Government and would not be subject to any transfer restrictions.

—British Wireless.

Dawes, Young Loans, London, May 30.

The chief result of the Berlin Conference has been the marking up of the Dawes and Young Loans, though both are excluded from the new agreement, and their prices touched 77 and 57 respectively. The news did not affect the foreign exchanges.

The Financial Times Berlin correspondent learns that Germany informed the trustees of the Dawes, Young Loans of Germany's inability to continue service, and asked for a conference.

Considering the attitude taken by the British and other Governments on this question, it is not unexpected that Germany will be more successful at the new conference than she has been in informal discussions.

—Reuter.

A sharp advance in Dawes and Young Bonds took place on the Stock Exchange this morning. Young Bonds at one time showed a rise of six points but at mid-day were quoted at 3 1/2 up at 54 1/2 and Dawes, after being 77, were two points higher at 75.

ENGLISH GIRL MAKES GOOD IN HOLLYWOOD

Pat Paterson's Work In "Bottoms Up"

What a surprise Pat Paterson handed out to her British friends and admirers when, after only three months in Hollywood, she married the French actor, Charles Boyer, at Yuma, Arizona.

From the moment Pat Paterson arrived in Hollywood she was an enormous "hit." Petite, the possessor of a perfect figure and small, exquisite features, she has a charming speaking voice and aptly fulfills that oft-quoted "charming English rose" description, applied to British girls.

Pat, who was born in Bradford and is 22, was given a starring part in her first American film, "Bottoms Up," which starts a run at the King's Theatre on Sunday. It was her work in the British production, "The Right to Live," that caught the eye of the Fox chief, Winfield Sheehan, when he was over here last year and required in an immediate test and contract.

Charles Boyer, who is 34, was last seen by filmgoers in this country in the Lillian Harvey production made in Germany, "The Only Girl."

FASCISM AROUSING DEMOCRATS

The growth of Fascist propaganda in Britain is having the effect of creating a strong counter-movement amongst those who believe that the real aim of the Black Shirts is to destroy democratic sentiment and put the process of progressive evolution out of gear. Unemployment, low standards of life, and economic hopelessness have, it is contended, prepared the ground for the Fascist creed, which is being made more attractive by the wearing of uniform by its adherents, this latter being an element in the propaganda which is considered to have a marked psychological effect on the people. Another point on which opponents of the Fascist concept lay stress is that, under the name of national reconstruction, political and economic freedom is being placed in jeopardy, with the workers' interests subordinated to capitalist interests. So strong is the feeling against Fascism developing that efforts are now being made for a concerted movement by the working classes to combat the influences which are considered to be harmful to democratic principles. Amongst the ideas outlined in this programme is the bringing of pressure on the Government to secure a reduction in working hours and the evolving of a plan for increasing the purchasing powers of the workers, co-incident with bold, financial schemes to prevent damage to the nation's trade. Bold, large-scale measures with a view to relieving unemployment are also advocated, these to include a comprehensive public works scheme, in which category is placed the need for construction of new arterial roads, the reinforcement of river-banks, the sinking of artesian wells, and the provision of new reservoirs in rural areas, so as to prevent recurring water shortages. At first glance, it might appear that plans such as these bear very little relation to the combatting of Fascism, but the sponsors of the movement are working on the principle that Fascism, being permeated with reactionary ideas, cannot persist in the face of a united, non-bureaucratic movement armed with definite plans for the purpose of effecting national reconstruction. The clash of ideas is most pronounced, with the full force of Trade Unionism being exerted in the effort to defeat the Fascist ambitions. There is little doubt that in the next General Election, the Fascists will make a bold bid for support, but already it is clear that organised Labour is determined to wage war on this new element in British politics.

NOTES OF THE DAY THE DOUGLAS SCHEME

The plan for "social credits" to supplant the existing currency and banking system developed by Major Clifford Douglas, the Scottish engineer and economist, and generally referred to as the Douglas Scheme, seems to be gaining more serious attention abroad than in Britain. In Australia there are already over a thousand Douglas Credit Societies with a membership of 600,000 and New Zealand has sixteen M.P.s committed to its advocacy. It will be interesting to observe the reactions of the United States where Major Douglas is now campaigning, although it has already been indicated that the idea has received sufficient support to lead to the drafting of a plan for applying Douglas economics to the State of New Jersey.

"CONSERVATIVE LENIN"

Major Douglas is a sort of "Lenin of the conservatives," who believes that to-day's troubles are due principally to a mere technical defect in the present system of industrial economic bookkeeping, and may be remedied by a peaceful overturn of that system without disturbing private ownership or any of the rest of the system of production and social life as they are to-day—except banking and money. He believes that private production of goods is best for the world generally—that inasmuch as it has shown the ability to produce more than is required, it should be let alone. This is where he differs from Socialists, Communists, Fascists, and other ists who concentrate their panaceas on securing control of the means of production.

PILING UP DEBTS

The Douglas theory is that where the world has failed is in viewing the crisis as one of overproduction and not primarily of underconsumption. What is needed is to create credits for all consumers which will enable them to buy what is produced. The price of anything, Major Douglas contends, must always, under the present system, be A plus B—A being all wages, salaries, and dividends, and B being banking charges, taxes, raw materials, overhead. Both go into the price of goods. But since only the A part is consumer purchasing power, A can never equal A plus B, and the difference must continually be made up by money credited by banks, borrowed from banks, and bearing interest. Thus a continually increasing debt structure is created, and the lag between consumer purchasing power and cost of goods grows wider.

JUST PRICE

Major Douglas proceeds to argue that the remedy is to calculate the value of goods produced, and, taking the power to issue money and credit from private hands, to issue national credit directly to consumers in proportion to the amount of goods produced, which is the real wealth of any community. This implies the establishment of what has been termed The Just Price. Buyers, on taking their credits (in the form of a new kind of money) to a store, would pay for goods a Just Price, which would be below apparent financial cost, but at a true cost fixed by a calculation of the percentage by which production exceeds consumption. It might be thought retailers would lose by such a "consumer discount," but this is not so. The seller turns in an account of his "loss," and is reimbursed from a National Credit Account. Thus production and consumption are balanced, everyone shares in the "national dividend" of consumer power, and the problem of the world is solved without confiscation, expropriation, nationalising of banks, class war, or political revolution.

GREAT ECONOMIST

Major Douglas is a stocky, ruddy, well-groomed English aviator type. He was an engineer rather than an economist, and was with Westinghouse in India prior to the war. At that time he returned to England to become assistant superintendent of a Government aircraft factory and was impressed by the idea that England emerged from the war "poor." Having seen her productive plant increase greatly during the war years, he felt that she was really "richer" than before. Directly after the war he began writing on economics, and some of his followers now claim that he is one of the three great economists, ranking them as Adam Smith for capitalism, Karl Marx for Communism, and Major Douglas for economic democracy.

CHINA SCORNS REVENGE IDEAS

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

CHINA would join neither side in event of war between Russia and Japan.

So Dr. Wang Ching-wei, president of the Executive Yuan and virtual Prime Minister, told me, in an exclusive interview at the foreign office in Nanking.

After Japan's seizure of four of China's richest provinces, her attack on Shanghai, and her hegemony threat against all China, the world has generally believed that China would jump at the chance to help any country defeat Nippon.

That would seem to be her only chance.

Somewhat surprised, I asked Mr. Wang why.

"China," he replied in a low voice, "stands to lose in such a war, no matter which side wins."

EARNEST WISH FOR PEACE.

"Far from desiring war between Japan and the Soviet Union so we may fish in troubled waters, our most earnest wish is for peace."

"If Russia should be decisively defeated, China would be left at the mercy of a militaristic neighbour. There would be nothing to prevent a further advance into this country."

"Should Japan be defeated, there would be nothing to check our other powerful neighbour."

China and Russia are now on most friendly terms. But the Chinese have been trained to think in decades, and even centuries. Now and for a long time to come, China's security, in large measure, depends upon some kind of balance of power in the Far East.

PINS HOPE ON AMERICA.

"Should these two countries go to war, therefore," Dr. Wang continued, "China could hardly choose sides. On the contrary, she would seek to keep out of it and pin her faith on the League of Nations and America to save her from the aftermath."

Here was another surprise. Most Chinese leaders with whom I had talked were frankly sceptical of the League's value to China in her time of peril.

"The League and America did not save China in Manchuria or at Shanghai," I observed. "What leads you to believe they would be any more effective in future?"

"I'm afraid you mistook my meaning," he said. "The existing world peace machinery is widely discredited, I know. I do not expect it to prevent war between Japan and Russia, if that is to come."

"But what I do foresee is that, should it come, the world would face such a frightful situation afterwards—regardless of which side won—that it would be obliged to act, if only to save itself. And to save itself, it would, of necessity, have to save China along with it."

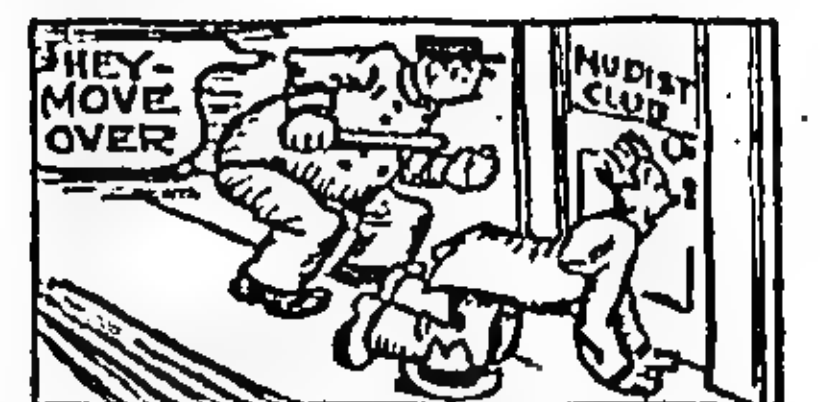

"Somebody wants a Mr. Plunket—Is your name Plunket?"

The Very Idea! NECK OR NOTHING

By George

LATEST reports indicate that the nudist movement is doing as well as can be expected.

It is naturally one of those movements that outstrip all others with the bare exception of the opposition who are going for them bald-headed.

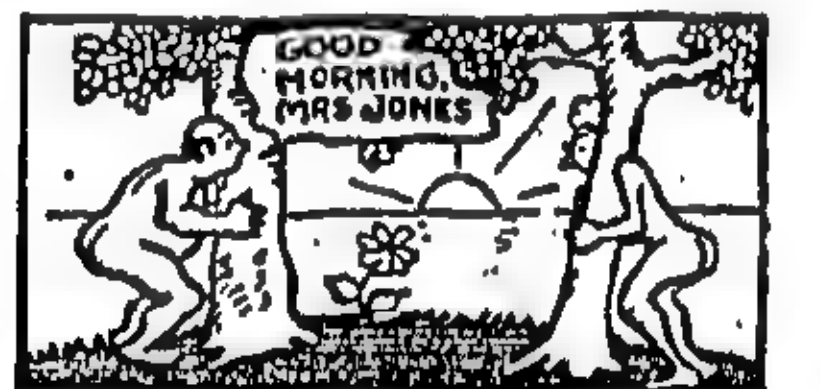

With the hot approach of the sun, the nudist's thoughts naturally turn to just how rude he and she can be this season.

When summer comes my thoughts obtrude. On facing nature in the nude, (Oh, blushing one!) But when it comes to facing others Sisters and perhaps their brothers I must confess I'm fearful. For though by faith I'm not a prude There are some people think it's rude (Oh, blushing one!) To dress like anybody's lovers With modesty our only covers—And that a modest hairfull!

Struggling along with not a rag to their backs, the movement is yet making good—though what, still remains to be seen. The nudists protest that there is nothing more to be seen and it would indeed be obscene to doubt them but we are still inclined to think there is more in the movement than meets the eye.

When so many narrow-minded, harping-carping, flouting-doubting and other critics are bent on crushing this little flower in its bud it is up to us to put our foot down, not forgetting to look before we leap.

It is a shameful indictment of modern civilisation that while purity and virtue in the most innocent and natural forms which a hallowed love of the body can produce should be struggling upward through the murky grimaces of a twisted and perverted sense of convention and stilted Victorianism subjected to the immature and ignorant criticisms of contemptible contemporaries—see us!

When he and she went walking out, "Twas in the altogether, He said: There's romance in the air, She said: It's lovely weather, Oh, Mr. Lane, I see a park, Do let's go sit together.

And when upon a stone he sat She said: Now don't get sore; A little inconvenience Makes Nature in the raw. And walking in the streets these days, For nudes, is such a bore.

So Mr. Lane, despite the pain, Sat down to admire the vista, And very soon, the tender coon, Was sitting on a blister, Quoth he: I must vacate my seat, I feel that it is scarcely meet, To stay here, Little Sister.

When he and she went limping back (Plus one embarrassing blister), Believe it or believe it not, He hadn't even kissed her. And when she said: It's getting dark, I've left my hanky in the park, Old Lane stroked his whisker.

And said: My dear, I really think The time has come to talk Of things apart from cats and kings And going for a walk. Now wipe your nose upon a rose And be a good little nudist For we must be home by six o'clock. You know my Ma's a prude!

CENTRAL BRITISH SCHOOL'S NEW BUILDING

SCHEME TO BE PUSHED ON OUTSIDE ARCHITECTS TO HANDLE WORK

P.W.D. AND PUBLIC WORKS

In the course of replies to questions by the Hon. Sir William Shenton, at this afternoon's meeting of the Legislative Council, it was stated that to expedite work on the new Central British School, steps are being taken to provide for its execution by a firm of non-Government architects.

It was further intimated that the site formation for the school is in progress, but that the work is slightly behind schedule.

Various other public works schemes were referred to in reply to further questions by Sir William Shenton, and in each case it was stated that the P.W.D. staff is sufficient to cope with the work.

Progress on various important works was reported to be as follows:

New Government Civil Hospital.

Site preparation is about three-quarters completed. The steel-work is expected to arrive in the Colony about July when erection will be commenced.

Kowloon Hospital.

"C" block, Nurses Quarters and Medical Officers' House are completed. Site preparation for the Outpatients' Department has been completed and work has now commenced on the erection of the building.

Kowloon Tsai Garden City Development.

Approximately half the amount of the work covered under the present contract has been completed.

New Stanley Gaol.

Site preparation is well advanced and is expected to be completed early in October.

Dragon Back Water Catchment Scheme.

The first section of this Catchment has been completed and the survey for the second section is in hand.

Harbour Dredging Scheme.

The dredger for this work arrived in the Colony on 8th May and will have commenced dredging by 4th June at Kun Tong where it will be employed for three weeks after which period the dredging of the Harbour itself will be commenced.

Post Office and Government Office Building at Kowloon.

Sketch plans have been prepared and forwarded to Government and the question now awaits consideration with the 1935 Estimates.

Magistracy at Kowloon.

Site preparation is in hand and good progress is being made.

New Mental Hospital.

Sketch plans have been prepared and are now under consideration by Government.

Government Employees' Housing Schemes.

Senior Officers' Quarters, May Road. Working drawings have been prepared and a contract for site preparation will be let in about six weeks time.

New Quarters at Peak Wireless Station. A contract will shortly be let for this work.

New Quarters for the Director of the Royal Observatory. This work is completed and the house occupied.

Anti-Malaria Work.

Good progress generally is being made in the following areas: Stanley Peninsula, Tai-koo, Sookunpo, Icyun and Kowloon Tong.

MEETING THE COST.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary, in the course of his reply, said the demands of the Public Works Extraordinary programme as it progresses can be met from the general revenues and surplus balances of the Colony. All the works mentioned are being carried out as expeditiously as possible and provision of additional funds would not materially affect progress. Supplementary votes will be applied for on occasion arises. It is the intention of Government to introduce a Supplementary Budget at an early date.

PIG AND POULTRY FARMING

GOVERNMENT AND TERRITORIES

EXPENSE NOT JUSTIFIED

Pig and poultry farming in the New Territories on an intensive scale were advocated in Legislative Council this afternoon by the Hon. Mr. J. P. Bragg, who pointed out that the Colony imports under these categories, including eggs, to the value of $12,000,000 annually.

Replying to questions on the subject, the Hon. Colonial Secretary said:

This matter has been carefully considered by Government on numerous occasions in the past, but it has not been found possible to take any official action which would be of practical utility sufficient to justify the expense involved.

The breeding of an improved type of pigs and poultry has been undertaken in recent years by a number of private individuals and enterprises. Where these undertakings are able to show a profit it is considered that New Territory producers will not be slow in following the example shown them.

FURTHER EXPLORATION.

His Excellency the Governor has however discussed the question with the District Officer, North, and made suggestions which are being further explored.

The Superintendent, Botanical Forestry Department and the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon are at all times prepared to consider requests for advice on such matters, and it would appear to be unnecessary at the present time to seek advice from elsewhere.

LOITERER SENT TO PRISON

MAGISTRATE GIVES WARNING

Sentenceing Li Yau-chun, alias Li Chi-sheng, alias Li Chak-wing, to three months' hard labour with two years' Police supervision, for loitering in the storehouse of the University, Mr. Hamilton in the Central Police Court this morning said that what the man wanted was 24 lashes of the cat. "You will probably spend the rest of your life in gaol unless you leave the Colony," his Worship added.

The defendant admitted eight previous convictions.

The defendant was found by Mr. S. V. Boxer, acting Registrar, in the storeroom which was locked. He stated he was looking for a friend whom he had not seen for two years.

THE SOCIAL EVIL

TWO MEN JAILED FOR SOLICITING

Six months' hard labour was inflicted by Mr. Hamilton this morning on Tse Chiu, on a charge of attempting to procure Lance-Corporal Harry Griffin, of the Lincolnshire Regiment, to do an act of gross indecency in Queen's Road Central, near the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank.

Griffin, in evidence, stated that at 12.35 a.m. on May 29 he was accosted by the defendant.

Defendant: The soldier stopped me and offered me one dollar. I do not know what for.

Tam Shing, on a charge of soliciting in Wanchai, was sentenced to four months' Two privates of the South Wales Borderers gave evidence.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

BEYOND IS ALL ABYSS, ETERNITY, WHOSE END NO EYE CAN REACH.—Millon.

At the Central Magistracy, yesterday, before Mr. Hamilton, Chan Hon-Shue, of 110 Caine Road, was fined $10 for being in possession of radio receiving set without a licence.

Injuries to his body were sustained by Cheung Shing, a coolie of the P.W.D. who was struck by motor lorry No. 2189 in Tam Kung Road, Kowloon City, yesterday. He was sent to the Kowloon Hospital.

Wong Hui, an ex-soldier of the 10th Route army, was sent to prison for one month by Mr. Hamilton in the Central Magistracy this morning for stealing a pair of trousers and a cotton singlet from Li Hing-po, in Sutherland Street.

DETENTION OF SOLDIER

PRIVATE IN THE BORDERERS

NO CHARGE YET MADE

C.I.D. investigations into the murder of Mohammed Din, a special police guard, whose body was found in a nullah on Bowen Road just over a week ago, with a bullet wound through the head, have resulted in the detention of a private of the South Wales Borderers.

It will be recalled that the discovery of the body was made by a party of men from the South Wales Borderers when they were walking along Bowen Road on Tuesday of last week. There was a bullet wound in the back of the Indian's head, and the man's revolver holster was open and the weapon missing.

It is understood that several men of the Borderers have been questioned by the police in the course of the investigations into the crime, but that no charge has been made against any of them.

NO CHARGE MADE.

The man now placed under detention has not been charged, and police officials state that until enquiries have been pursued further, it is not possible to say whether he will be.

A day or two ago, the police offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers.

WATERLOO BRIDGE SCHEME

Rejected by House of Commons

London, May 31.

The Waterloo Bridge scheme has been condemned by Parliament.

The House of Commons last night, by a majority of 194 votes to 169, rejected the plan approved by the Labour majority of the London County Council, to demolish the existing Waterloo Bridge and to build a new one.—Reuter.

Lieut. Col. A. E. Williams, the new O.G. the South Wales Borderers, will arrive in the Colony on board the Patroclus on June 22.

VAUDEVILLE STAR SHOT DEAD

FORMER PLAYER IN HONGKONG

CHINESE "BOY'S" CRIME

An unrehearsed drama with a tragic sequel, in which the main roles were taken by a French vaudeville artiste and her Chinese servant boy, was recently enacted at a Municipal Theatre in France.

Mme. Torcat, wife of M. Louis Torcat, who owns and directs a troupe of performing rosters, was killed by shots from a revolver fired at her by Lau Yee, their Cantonese houseboy.

The Torcats, who have given shows in Hongkong, had just completed an engagement at the Municipal Theatre and were making arrangements to sail for Venezuela where an attractive contract was awaiting them. Owing to Chinese being barred from that country, they had to leave their houseboy behind, but had arranged for his return to China.

The position which the Torcats found unsurmountable after the expenditure of a deal of time and money, was carefully explained to the servant, but the boy seems to have misunderstood and to have thought that his employers, with whom he had been for a long time, were abandoning him.

SEVERAL SHOTS.

When Mme. Torcat went into the Theatre that Sunday to make the final preparations for departure and to hand Lau Yee his passage ticket home to China, she was confronted by the latter with a revolver. Several shots were fired at her, and she died shortly afterwards.

The assailant ran away after committing the crime. The unfortunate woman is not unknown in Hongkong, as it will be recalled that some years ago she and M. Torcat visited the Colony, when they gave a performance with their trained rosters and chanteuses at the Queen's Theatre.

STRANGE CONFLICT OF EVIDENCE

Case Against Motorists Dismissed

Two summonses against S. Y. Sung for having allowed an unlicensed driver to drive his car, and Miss R. Ling for having driven without a licence, in Shau-kiwan Road on May 7, were dismissed by Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning.

At the previous hearing, Traffic Sergeant Morris said that when he stopped the car Miss Ling was in the driving seat, but when he returned after "jacking" up his motorcycle, she had changed seats with Sung.

Cross-examined by Mr. Horace Lo, this morning, witness said he asked Miss Ling for her licence before parking his cycle. He did not express surprise when he found they had changed seats. There were no other persons in the car besides defendants.

Sung, in the witness box, said that he was driving the car, and Miss Ling was seated next to him on the left centre of the car. She had one hand on the steering wheel. He had both hands on the wheel himself, and full control of the car. Others in the car were Messrs. J. Ackbar, Woo Pak-sau and Miss C. Lee.

Miss Ling corroborated, after which Mr. J. Ackbar, who said he was seated in the back seat of the car, testified that Miss Ling was on the left side of the car. Mr. Woo Pak-sau corroborated this evidence.

WATER LEVELS.

SILVER INGOTS AND COINS

TWO FIREMEN LOSE VALUABLE "CARGO"

Appearing on demand, Ho Shu-fuk, No. 1 fireman on the steamer Sandviken, was fined $100 by Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning, on a charge of having imported 3,548 foreign silver coins and 214 silver ingots without manifest on the vessel into the Colony.

Mr. Horace Lo, appearing for defendant, said he had been instructed to plead guilty.

Revenue Officer Grimmit said that the coins were Yuen Shi Kai and Sun Yat Sen dollars and one Hupeh dollar.

Mr. T. P. K. Kumble, appearing for the steamer Nanchang, also charged on a similar offence, pleaded guilty, and said that defendant had already been in gaol for 14 days.

Mr. Hamilton, in view of this imposed a fine of $75 or in default two months.

The cargo consisted of 180 silver ingots. In both cases the cargo was confiscated.

THEFT OF FRENCH MAGAZINE

COOLIE DELVES INTO FASHIONS

Charged with stealing a magazine, "La Femme Chic," valued at $2.50, from Messrs. Kelly and Walsh, Yu Kwok-chu, employed as No. 1 coolie for the past year, was bound over by Mr. Macdonald in the Central Magistracy this morning. Mr. A. S. Abbott, manager, appeared as the complainant. On a charge of receiving the magazine, Yung Siu-kan, a coolie, was discharged, the magistrate holding there was not enough direct evidence of guilty knowledge. Mr. Abbott stated that he found the paper, wrapped up, in a drawer of a table in the coolies quarters of the N.Y.K. building.

London. Fresh fields are being conquered by the Rugby League game. France is already making headway, and now comes the information that Italy is keen to try it out. The French Rugby League has received an official request from a group of Italians who are interested and a representative of the League will visit Rome to arrange for exhibition games.

Two Big League Tennis Games

IN "B" DIV. TO-DAY

One of the best matches in to-day's "B" Division tennis league programme promises to be that between Kowloon Cricket Club and the Club de Recreo.

The Recreo, who last year finished third, have a strong combination, and the K.C.C. will need the advantage of playing on their own courts in order to win.

Dunne remains absent from the K.C.C. side owing to a lawn bowls engagement, and W. Gittins will probably come into the side to partner C. I. Stapleton. Burnett will again line up with R. H. Lewis and Gray and Oppenheim will constitute the third pair.

The promoted C.R.C. side will also be up against a useful proposition in visiting South China Athletic Association, and it is doubtful whether more than two sets will separate the teams at the close.

The full programme is:

BOXER MATCHED

OPPONENT FOUND FOR BRILKA

An opponent has been found in Hongkong for Max Brilka, the German boxer, who arrived in the Colony at the beginning of the week from a tour of various other cities of the East.

Yesterday afternoon Prof. S. M. Fernandez, the well-known local physical culture specialist, presented himself at the office of the S. C. M. Post and intimated that he was prepared to accept the challenge issued by Max Brilka, if there is any promoter who might be interested in staging a contest.

Prof. Fernandez has been in Hongkong for the past three years and has been engaged in physical culture training. He came here from the Federal Malay States, where he states he was the 1st. boxing champion. He is still under ten stone in weight.

A record crowd of 40,000 attending the historic Penn Relay Carnival in Philadelphia saw records fall on track and field. An outstanding performer was Ralston Legore (left), North Carolina, who hurled the javelin 214 feet 7.8 inches, bettering the old mark by more than nine and one-half feet. A famous record-breaker on the cinder path was Glenn Cunningham, Kansas star, pictured at right breasting the tape to win the mile event from Gene Venke in 4:11.8, a new meet mark. Venke was 15 yards behind at the finish.

MISS STAMMERS BEATEN IN FRENCH TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

CRICKET GOES BACK 200 YEARS

Cricket went back two hundred years when the Vine Club at Sevenoaks, Kent, the oldest cricket club in the world celebrated its bicentenary recently with a reproduction of the first cricket match played on the club's ground. In that match Lord John Sackville and Sir William Gage Sackville and other men of Kent opposed Viscount Gage's XI from Sussex. Players in the bicentenary match wore exactly similar clothes to those of the first players, and the game was played under the rules of that time.

HITLESS FOR EIGHT INNINGS

Senators' Experience Against Yankees

New York, May 30. A rare pitching feat by Whitehill of the Yankees saw Washington Senators hitless for eight innings to-day, but the Senators finally scored a run and then blanked out their opponents. Cleveland were noised out, as were St. Louis, but in the National League, the Giants won with ease. Scores as called by Reuter, follow.

HARE AND AUSTIN AS WELL

ANOTHER SAD DAY FOR ENGLAND

THREE DEFEATS

Paris, May 30. Britain's interest in the French tennis championships is now practically extinct as a result of to-day's matches.

They saw Miss Kathleen Stammers beaten very easily in the women's singles, H.W. Austin and C.E. Hare eliminated from the men's doubles after a five set match with Borotra and Brugnon, and Miss J. McAlpine and Miss Barbara Yorke make their exit from the women's doubles.

Miss Margaret Scriven in company with Jack Crawford managed to survive another round in the mixed doubles at the expense of Mrs. Howard, another Englishwoman and Brugnon.

Miss Stammers was disappointing against Fraulein Aussem in the singles quarter-finals, winning only six games in two sets. The German girl was rarely extended and won her points whenever necessary. Against two such experienced campaigners as Borotra and Brugnon, "Bunny" Austin and young Hare did extraordinarily well to take the match to the fifth set.

The Englishmen won the first and third set, and took the fourth to ten games before fading out. It was entertaining tennis.

GOOD SHOWING. Miss McAlpine and Miss Yorke have no reason to feel disgraced concerning their result. Opposed what is regarded to-day as the strongest India combination in the world—Madame Mathieu and Miss Ryan, the flowers carried the encounter the full distance, and the Franco-American had to play 30 games before winning.

A fierce fight for the first set terminated in favour of the English girls at the 18th game, but the effort appeared to cost them a lot, and Madame Mathieu and Miss Ryan hit back to gather the next two sets both at 6-3.

Scores as called by Reuter were.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.
Quarter-finals
Fr. C. Aussem (Germany) beat Miss K. Stammers (England) 6-4, 6-2.
Women's Doubles
Mdme. Mathieu (France) and Miss Ryan (U.S.) beat Miss J. McAlpine and Miss B. Yorke (England) 8-10, 6-3, 6-3.
Men's Doubles
Brugnon and Borotra (France) beat Austin and Hare (England) 4-6, 6-3, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.
Mixed Doubles
J. Crawford (Australia) and Miss Scriven (England) beat Brugnon (France) and Mrs. Howard (England) 6-4, 2-6, 6-0.

Rome, May 26. In the 11 Duca Polo Cup contest held in Rome, between the teams of France, Hungary, and Italy, the first game, between Hungary and Italy, ended in a draw at 4-4. Then the French beat the Hungarians by 3 to 2, and the Italians by 4 to 3, thus winning the trophy.

GERMAN DAVIS CUP HOPE.

Berlin, May 22. Germany's only hope for the Davis Cup, young Gottfried von Cramm, romped to easy victory to-day against stiff International competition to win the annual Berlin championship tournament, defeating the Italian champion Palmieri in the finals 6 love, 6-1, and 7-5. Germany's ranking woman player, Marie Luise Horn, also easily defeated the dashing Californian Elizabeth Ryan in the finals for the women's title in straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

JAPAN'S 100 ATHLETES FOR BERLIN

Country Stirred By Far East Games Successes

Tokyo, May 24. Spurred by the success of their athletic delegation in the Tenth Far Eastern Championship Games, Japan today plans on sending more than 100 athletes to the Olympic Games in Berlin in 1936.

Until the early part of 1930, it was indicated to-day, the various teams that will make the trip to Berlin will be in almost constant training.

Japanese athletic officials believe that the Far Eastern Games held in Manila, have given the Japanese teams valuable experience this year.

Because the field meets in Japan, however, will undoubtedly develop many new stars before the Berlin event. It is probable that only part of the winners who made the trip to Manila will participate in world Olympic competitions.

Japan's athletes develop very early in their school life and one problem will be to keep some of those who will be holders of international records and winners in Manila, from getting stale.

To widen the experience of the newer men, athletic associations plan to invite several foreign athletes of note to visit Japan this summer and next for a series of contests. In fact three of America's outstanding swimmers have already been contracted and will compete in the national swimming championships this summer.

Some of the best American track and field stars are expected to give the Japanese a thorough tryout for their newer men.

Japan at least has not retrogressed since the last Olympics as evidenced by their powerful showing at Manila where the Nipponese merman made a clean sweep of the tank events except the 220-meter breast-stroke, and captured a goodly number of the track and field events, including the general championship.

It is expected they will be leading contenders at Berlin in the swimming events, the dancin, jumps and polo vault.

Young military officers are determined that the fine record for horsemanship made at Los Angeles shall be repeated.

Meanwhile, all circles are planning a vigorous campaign to bring the Games to Tokyo in 1940.

242 FOR THE SECOND WICKET

BY SANDHAM & GREGORY

SURREY'S HUGE SCORE

VISITORS FIELD ALL DAY

London, May 30. A 48 year old second wicket record was shattered at the Kennington Oval to-day, when Andrew Sandham and J. Gregory of Surrey put together 242 while playing against the Australian Test team.

The previous record, established by F. W. Hearne and M. Read, was 191, and was made for the South of England eleven at Gravesend in 1886.

The Australians, as a result, had a tiring time chasing the ball in the first day's play of their match against Surrey. The county batted all day to compile 372 for three wickets.

Sandham was magnificent and stayed until stumps were drawn, remaining unbeaten with 201 to his credit. He hit without blemish all round the wicket, scoring his runs in 330 minutes, and having one six and 21 fours to his credit.

Gregory gave him wonderful support, and the pair collared the Australian attack to such an extent, that 242 runs were added before Gregory left after hitting up a vigorous 116, which had sixteen boundaries as chief hits.—Reuter.

MOTOR RACING

Marathon Proceeds At Isle Of Man

London, May 30. Ideal weather favoured the "Man-in-Bag" international motor-car race which is being run in on the Isle of Man to-day.

It is organised by the Royal Automobile Club. The distance is 50 laps of a three and a half miles circuit. At end of 25 laps the leaders were Dixon, in a Riley, whose speed was 72.63 miles per hour; Black in an M.G. Magnette, 71.27 miles per hour; Eyston in an M.G. Magnette, 71.22 miles an hour.—British Wireless.

DRASTIC BAR TO P. I. TENNIS PLAYERS

SPORT ADVTs.

L. T. A. SEEKS TO RESTRICT

FOREIGN TOURNAMENTS & LOCAL PLAYERS

New Rules Contemplate Wide Powers

The P. I. lawn tennis association will curtail the privileges of local tennis players to play abroad at their own accord. Officials of the association are reported drafting rules that will restrict the local tennis stars from participating in tennis tournaments in other countries. Before any ranking tennis players here engage in competition abroad permission must first be secured from the P. I. lawn tennis association.

The promulgation of the rules regarding competition on foreign soil by the P. I. lawn tennis association for the purpose of protecting the interest and welfare of these players, it is stated, is the highest tennis association in the Philippines should sanction every trip abroad of local tennis players for the purpose of participating in tournaments.

Regino R. Ylanan, national director and secretary-treasurer of the P. I. lawn tennis association, is a strong advocate for restriction of a provision restricting players from competing on foreign soil, in the constitution and rules of the association.

Enrico de los Reyes, one of the P. I. lawn tennis association officials, also expressed an opinion that the rule will do more good to the players. Other members of the association also entertain the same view and when the matter is taken up at the next meeting of the association it is expected to be passed.

Officials of the P. I. lawn tennis association are now concerned with the building up of new tennis courts in the provinces. With the exception of the provinces of Iloilo, Cebu, and Negros, there are no other young players who have developed into championship players.

It is understood that the association is in an extensive campaign for the building of young tennis players in the provinces to interest them in the game.

NO TENNIS FOR WOMEN

IN NEXT ORIENT OLYMPICS

P. I. TO SEEK INCLUSION

Tennis for women will not be included as a regular event in the 1936 Olympic Games which will be held in Tokyo. In the last congress of the now defunct Far Eastern Athletic Association a move to include women's swimming as a regular event in the programme of the Far East Olympics was approved, but the women's tennis was not discussed due to the absence of a report on the matter from the tennis committee of the P. I. lawn tennis association.

The quest to have women's tennis included in the regular events of the Orient Olympics was submitted by Gerónimo de los Reyes, official of the P. I. lawn tennis association to Dr. Regino R. Ylanan, national physical director during the last day of the Orient Olympics Monday, and no action could be taken on the matter as the congress has already adjourned and the Far Eastern Athletic Association has been dissolved.

Local tennis officials, however, believe that before the 1938 Orient Olympics are held in Tokyo they will again petition to the P. A. A. F. officials to urge Japan to include women's tennis on the regular programme of the Orient Olympics. They are confident that the Japanese officials will have no objection to this proposal as they have already signified their willingness to include this event in the next Olympics.

The Philippine women racketeers have won the invitation tennis tournament during the last Olympics from the Chinese entries. The local team defeated China 4 matches to 1. Mrs. E. Ochoa, Miss B. Calina, Miss E. Albano and Miss M. Ochoa represented the Philippines in the last Olympics.

the people in tennis may also be started by the association.

The P. I. lawn tennis association will encourage tennis enthusiasts in the provinces to pursue their tennis careers by accepting tennis clubs in these provinces as members of the association.

First class tennis players in this city may also be requested to make periodic trips to the provinces to play exhibition games.

Carnera Thinks Baer Is Just Dumb

WHAT ITALIAN GIANT PROMISES TO DO TO HEAVYWEIGHT FILM STAR

London. Primo Carnera is nothing if not cautious. He has been insured by his manager Louis Sorot, against accident or death until he enters the ring to defend his world championship against Max Baer on June 14.

The policies, which have been taken out with Lloyd's, provide for £30,000 in the case of death and £15,000 against accident.

Carnera is training at Greenvale, Maine. He said he was going to do a lot of work. "I'll chop down trees, run through woods and rough it up generally to improve my legs and wind."

BAER "DUMB"

"I feel silly doing all this work for an opponent like Baer," he added scornfully. "He's nothing but a great strong guy and the dumbest boxer the world has ever seen. But it is as well to be on the safe side."

And here is what Baer says concerning his meeting with Carnera:

"I will either rush him off his feet from the opening going hoping to catch him in retreat or off his balance, or I will hang fire, feinting and waiting for an opening as he comes in."

"What I will not do is try to clinch or box with Primo. I saw him in action when he knocked out Jack Sharkey last year and I have considerable respect for his ability to drap his massive form over the shoulders of his adversary."

"Carnera won't get a chance to lean on me. He is too big and strong to wrestle with. Anyhow I hope to knock him out before he can try it."

BRITISH OFFER.

An offer has been made to Carnera by three Midland sportsmen to defend his world's heavy-weight championship against Larry Gains in Leicester at the end of July.

The offer is made subject to Carnera getting the better of Max Baer when they meet in June.

When Carnera and Gains last met two years ago Gains won on points. A return would probably be staged in the open air at the White City.

THE DERBY.

Final Acceptors For Big Race.

London, May 30. Final acceptors for the Derby were announced today as follows: Tibbels, Valerius, Primero, The Ruthless, Abbot, Admiral Drake, Medloval Knight, Lozingaro, Colombo, All Shall, Badruddin, Umduwar, Achtenan, On Top, Baron Munchausen, Rathmore, Windsor Lad, Fleetfoot, Hornsey Rise, Patriot King, Easton, Pride of the Chilterns and Bondeman.—Routier.

In the Lodge Room of the Manuk Lodge of the Theosophical Society, 17, Queen's Road, Central, Mr. J. Russell, Presidential Agent for China, will give a public lecture this evening at 6 p.m. His subject will be "The Known and the Unknown."

YESTERDAY'S BOWLS

Close Contest In Rinks Competition

Playing in the rinks, championship yesterday at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, a rink comprised of four senior bowlers from the Club de Recreio defeated a rink of junior bowlers from the Indian Recreation Club by six shots, the final result being 24 shots to 18.

C. G. Silva, the unbeaten Recreio skip, was in fine form. His driving and drawing for shots was very accurate.

The Indians drew first blood when they scored two shots in the initial head, but in the next two heads the Recreio were up four shots. Thereafter they had the game well in hand. The Indians registered 11 shots in the last four heads, including a five. The Portuguese had two fours and one three.

The Recreio players, J. E. Noronha, C. E. Marques, F. X. M. Silva, C. G. Silva were opposed by A. M. Omar, M. J. Razack, A. M. Wahab and K. M. Omar.

PAIRS COMPETITION.

In the pairs, championship, T. Armstrong and C. Strange defeated J. C. Ozorio and F. V. V. Ribeiro by 23 shots to 10. The winner scored a five in the second head while the losers had a four on the 7th head, and actually took the lead by 10-4.

ENGLAND GOES DRY.

ANOTHER LONG DROUGHT EXPERIENCED

London, May 30. Part of England has experienced another dry spell and only on four occasions in the past century has the month of May shown so small a rainfall. Unless rain falls before tomorrow, which seems improbable, England will have had her seventh period of drought—fifteen consecutive days without rain—in the past twelve months.—British Wireless.

Omar were given quite a fright by John Pooler and J. Purvis who held the strong Craigengower pair to a final score of 19-17. The scoring was never on the big side and although Bradbury and Omar qualified for the next round, a little more luck and the Craigengower pair would have created one of the biggest surprises of the tournament.

W. Ward and R. F. Luz were never seriously extended in their match against A. McFarlane and L. de Rome on the Civil Service green where the Craigengower couple won by 35 shots to 16.

Playing on the Yacht Club green W. Stoker and W. H. B. Musket beat W. Weir and T. F. Stainton by 20 shots to 17 on the twentieth head, there being no necessity to play the last head which was abandoned on account of darkness.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

"Moulin Rouge," the romantic musical, starring Constance Bennett in her first appearance for Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl Zanuck's 20th Century Pictures, a United Artists release, comes on Sunday for simultaneous showings at the Alhambra and World Theatres. Its story, based on a French stage success of the same name will serve to introduce Miss Bennett in her first dual role, and as a singer of songs especially written for her by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, who composed the memorable hits in "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" and "Roman Scandals." Surrounding her is a cast which includes Franchot Tone, Tullio Carminati, stage star of "Strictly Dishonorable" Helen Westley, one of the founders of the New York Theatre Guild and a star in many of its productions; Andrew Tomba and Russ Brown, comedians in numerous New York stage shows. The Horwell Sisters and Russ Columbo, famous radio stars are another attraction of the film. Sidney Lanfield, who directed "Society Girl" and "Dance Team," directed "Moulin Rouge." Miss Bennett portrays both the stage-wise wife of a play-right and Raquel, gifted but notorious French music hall artiste. The plot has to do with the efforts of Helen to convince her husband that she should follow a career rather than make a home for him. It accumulates complications which include the situation of the husband making gallant love to her while thinking she is Raquel, and so putting himself in jeopardy of a divorce suit. The story gathers considerable dramatic momentum, and features at all times between comedy and romance. Its action, for the most part, takes place backstage of an important New York revue and in the Park Avenue penthouse of the actress Raquel. Miss Bennett introduces two songs "Coffee in the Morning" and "Kisses in the Night" and "Boulevard of Broken Dreams." Tullio Carminati sings "Song of Surrender." Chorines trained in intricate modernistic dance routines by Russell Markert, who originated the Rokyettes in Radio City Music Hall appear recurrently in numbers keyed to the underlying rhythm of the picture. The picture was produced on an exceedingly lavish scale, and marks Miss Bennett's debut in musicals.

"The Girl in 419"

Motion picture stories are often suggested by newspaper headlines. But B. F. Schulberg, leading producer, has enjoyed the experience of seeing newspaper headlines paralleling a motion picture. The picture is "The Girl in 419," romantic drama which comes to the King's Theatre on Friday, with James Dunn and Gloria Stuart in leading roles. The film centres around a girl, brought into an emergency hospital badly beaten and unconscious, and saved by the head of the hospital, who is intrigued by her beauty. When she recovers, she bears not to be, kept out of the hospital and pleads for protection. Schulberg, reading the newspapers one night when "The Girl in 419" was nearing completion, found an item telling practically the same story. A gangster's girl, thrown out of a speeding car, was taken to a hospital, recovered consciousness, and begged the authorities not to release her when she was well again. It meant her life. Schulberg was amazed by the similarity of his bit of fiction and this bit of fact, attributed it solely to coincidence. Miss Stuart is "The Girl in 419" and Dunn is the doctor who ultimately straightens out her tangled life and his own. Others in the cast are David Manners, Jack LaRue, Shirley Grey, Johnny Hines and William Harrigan.

"Headline Shooter"

Thrills run rampant and romance progresses at a mile-a-minute pace in "Headline Shooter" RKO-Radio Pictures' realistic melodrama of a daring newspaper cameraman, which is now showing at the Central Theatre with William Garzan and Frances Dee leading a commendable cast. The film moves at a breakneck speed embracing some of the most remarkable action shots ever caught by the camera. Spectacular episodes during an earthquake, a disastrous fire and a great flood highlights the story. William Garzan makes a deserved bid for starring honours with his excellent performance of the newsworld cameraman in "Headline Shooter." Frances Dee scores mightily as the newspaper girl and Ralph Bellamy as Hal Caldwell.

"This Side of Heaven"

At last, an average American family has been immortalized in a motion picture production in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, "This Side of Heaven," which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre. The picture tells the story of a typical middle-class family, whose heartaches, tragedies, romances and aspirations clash almost simultaneously. At the head of the family, Lionel Barrymore comes through again with one of his masterful performances. At a time when other members of his family are facing their greatest crises, Barrymore becomes involved innocently in an embezzlement at his office. He attempts suicide, but is saved by a new face to the screen, but one of the best loved actresses of the stage, Fay Bainter makes her debut in the picture as Barrymore's wife who has succeeded in selling a novel to a motion picture producer. Mae Clarke, who can always be depended upon for a first rate performance, deviates from her usual exotic roles and, for the first time, appears as a charming school teacher loved by two men, one a maker-of-fact business man, the other in idealistic young newspaperman. Mary Carlisle, so successful in other co-ed portrayals—and who admits she has never attended college—is seen as the younger daughter of Barrymore who believes marriage is too old-fashioned for a girl with her modern views on life. Henry Wandsworth, a recent recruit from the Broadway stage, plays the part of Miss Carlisle's flaming youth. Una Merkel provides her never-falling brand of Southern humour and C. Henry Gordon lays aside his mask of villainy to portray Barrymore's boss. Others in the cast are Tom Brown, Maxwell Stevens, Eddie Nugent and Dickie McCre, all deserving of honourable mention. William K. Howard did a splendid job of directing.

"Ever Since Eve"

The three days of shopping and fittings estimated as necessary to provide George O'Brien with 10 changes of attire for his role in his current Fox Film, "Ever Since Eve" at the King's Theatre, dwindled to the five minutes necessary for George to make a list of the outfits on the back of an envelope. He has everything needed in his own wardrobe—dinner suits, formal morning and afternoon attire, riding habit, and all the rest. "One of the principal reasons I'm glad to get out of Western pictures," said O'Brien, "is that a great many people seem to think my personal wardrobe consists of a pair of chaps, a black shirt, a 10-gallon hat, and a pair of boots." Herbert Mundin, Mary Brian and Betty Blythe also will bank in sartorial glory in the picture, which George Marshall directed. Others in the cast are Roger Imhof, Russell Simpson and George Meeker.

"The Mystery of Mr. X"

Robert Montgomery has collected police souvenirs and literature all his life. Now at last he has won a starring role in a film based on the operations of Scotland Yard, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new thriller, "The Mystery of Mr. X," which opens on Saturday at the Queen's Theatre. In his Beverly Hills home the star has a sacred room. It is full of police collections: Choice books, case histories, glistening rapiers, pistols from police departments all over the world. A public official in London, a close friend of the actor, has sent him many tokens surrendered by criminals apprehended by Scotland Yard. Hanging over the room's fireplace is a slim, graceful-looking walking stick, such as many well-to-do Englishmen might own. But a close examination reveals it to be a sword-cane, one of the most vicious of criminal weapons. Its former owner was seized, fortunately, before he could use it. A similar sword-cane was fashioned by the studio's property department as the death-dealing weapon used by the murderer "X" in the new film. A tray of gems sparkles brilliantly under a glass case in the room. These, too, are from Scotland Yard. Duplicates of famous gems confined in hidden safes, they were robbed from their owners and seized in subsequent volumes on such subjects. Black-jacks are festooned from the ceiling, pistols are everywhere. Rifles from the native police of certain parts of Africa are slung on wooden pegs in long columns. Commenting on his long collection, Montgomery shrugged: "They help me to relax. Nothing like a good fair-raising yarn or the sight of those sleek guns to rest a fellow after a day's work." In the new film, which Edgar Selwyn directed, Montgomery plays the role of a suave gentleman who captures the murderer "X." Elizabeth Allan is his leading lady and the cast includes Lewis Stone, Ralph Forbes, Henry Stephenson, Forrester Harvey, Ivan Simpson, Leonard Mudie, Alec D. Francis and Charles Irwin.

BRITISH EXPORT CREDITS

LIFE OF SCHEME EXTENDED

BIG CONTRACTS FACILITATED

London, May 30. The life of the Export Credits Guarantee Department is to be extended until 1940, a tribute to the success of its activities, particularly in the last twelve months.

The question of extension was before the House of Commons to-day and it was agreed almost unanimously to adopt the Government's proposal for keeping the Department in being until 1940.

The scheme up to now has been remarkably successful.

The Department has been the agency behind the covering of exports valued at over £50,000,000 and recently it has been increasing its enterprise, having facilitated the conclusion of big contracts for British firms in many parts of the world.

It is learned that the Advisory Committee directing the policy of the Department is recommending a reduction of thirty per cent. on the premiums for Russian business.—Reuter.

DISCLAIMER BY MAN OF SAME NAME

Sir,—With reference to the news which appeared in your paper last evening to the effect that a Francis Lee was fined $100, or two months' hard labour, for having driven a motor car without the permission of the owner, and also that the same man had been convicted last year on a similar offence, I shall be greatly obliged if you will allow me a little space in your valued paper as I wish to state that I had nothing whatever to do with the above-mentioned cases, and it is apparent that the offender in question is an entirely different person to myself.

Since the publication of the above news in the press, it has been necessary for me on innumerable occasions to correct inquiries which are by no means pleasant.

ANGLO-FRENCH BREACH CERTAIN

PERSONAL ATTACK ON SIR JOHN SIMON

CHANGE OF VIEWS PARADED

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraph Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 31, 9.18 a.m.)

GENEVA, MAY 30.

A COMPLETE BREACH BETWEEN BRITAIN AND FRANCE IN DISARMAMENT MATTERS THREATENS FINAL COLLAPSE OF THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE AS THE RESULT OF A SHARPLY-WORDED, IRONICAL SPEECH BY M. BARTHOLOMEW, ATTACKING SIR JOHN SIMON'S EFFORTS TO REACH A COMPROMISE AGREEMENT.

The French Minister, addressing the General Commission to-day, compared Sir John's resistance to German rearmament a year ago with his readiness to make concessions to-day in a manner which caused uproar.

The speech was the culmination of a personal quarrel between Sir John Simon and M. Barthou which has been pursued in the corridors in the last few days. An end of Anglo-French co-operation seems the certain outcome.

DAY GIVEN FOR EXCITEMENT TO SUBSIDE

The meeting of the General Commission opened at 3.50 p.m. and the first principal speaker was Britain's Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon.

Sir John proposed that the Conference should prepare an agreement covering, firstly, "military warfare, secondly, budgetary publicity, and thirdly, the establishment of a Permanent Disarmament Commission."

The difficulties of disarmament, he declared, were endangering the whole system of co-operative effort for peace and progress.

BRITISH EFFORTS.

The Conference must deal in realities, said Sir John, who recalled the British efforts to achieve an agreement, pointing to the British compromise plan of January, Captain Anthony Eden's visit to European capitals, and thirdly the concession that had been secured from Germany.

Explaining that Germany, in return for moderate rearmament had agreed to a five-year delay in the disarmament of the heavily-armed nations, Sir John Simon said: "If an international treaty is to be obtained, this German condition must be modified or accepted. We must face this issue. The only thing that matters now is an agreement. Is there a possible way to construct a bridge over the differences?"

NEW DANGERS.

Britain was unable to agree to an indefinite continuation of the Disarmament Conference because "failure to make any real progress would inflict a great and increasing injury on the League and the whole conception of international action."

Further, delay in reaching an agreement must be resisted because Europe faces new dangers. "Governments cannot be deterred from dealing with these dangers by the specious plan that the governments are in conference at Geneva."

PERMANENT COMMISSION.

Sir John Simon also stressed that a Permanent Disarmament Commission "would be something accomplished as an immediate outcome of our labours and would encourage and assist the wider agreement that is our main objective."

He said that Britain could not lend herself to the indefinite continuation of vague and inconclusive discussions which justified nothing better than sanguine hopes.

After all, he said, something in the way of a solution may turn up.

THE CHOICE.

Later, he recommended the Conference to consider once again the British Draft Treaty and the supplementary suggestions submitted by the five small Powers. "We have to choose between the chance that remains of an agreement on the lines I have indicated and a breakdown of the whole vast effort with the consequences of unlimited competition in armaments, and the dangers to the future of the world which no man can measure."

BARTHOLOMEW SPEECH.

Following Sir John Simon, M. Barthou, the French Foreign Minister, declared that the fate of the Conference and of the League of Nations was at stake, but he added that France was not willing to compromise.

He recalled that Mr. Norman Davis and Sir John Simon had expressed approval of the control of arms traffic, but drew attention to the fact that only France had restrained her manufacturers from supplying air material to Germany.

BLAMES GERMANY.

He flatly blamed Germany for the failure of the disarmament efforts.

The drastic increase in the German Budget figures for army, navy and air purposes, proved that Germany was re-arming.

M. Barthou denied the allegation that the last French Note on disarmament had killed the Conference.

"The door is still open. The Conference must continue and must succeed."

TWITS SIR JOHN SIMON.

M. Barthou waxed ironical when later criticising Sir Simon's efforts to reach a compromise and tried to lead the conference back to the Anglo-French-American agreement of October, 1933, barring German rearmament.

M. Barthou quoted Sir John Simon's previous declarations against permitting German rearmament and then ironically cited the British Minister's speech to-day in favour of a return to the British January Memorandum permitting Germany moderate rearmament.

The Commission adjourned until Friday, probably to allow the excitement of the Simon-Barthou clash to subside.—United Press.

SIR JOHN SIMON'S SPEECH

The Franco-German Differences

The prospects of the Disarmament Conference were frankly reviewed by Sir John Simon in the course of his speech expressing the views of British Government on the situation.

If the speeches in debate were to be useful they must, he said, deal with the realities that now faced them and he proceeded to address himself to some of them, recalling that during the last six months, since the work of the Conference was adjourned to permit of parallel and supplementary efforts being carried on, the British Government have been very closely associated with these efforts. He referred, in particular, to the United Kingdom Memorandum of January 20th, and the statement, textually approved by the German Government, which British Government, of modifications in the memorandum which Germany was prepared to accept and which included a concession to heavily armed powers that there should be no disarmament for first five years of a ten years' convention.

NO PROGRESS.

He was grateful for what Mr. Norman Davis had said as to the value of these efforts but they had not produced a new basis of agreement and as the President pointed out on Monday: "In view of the opinion expressed in the French memorandum of April 17th, it seemed that diplomatic negotiations between the powers could hardly be carried on any further."

Dealing with the circumstances in which these diplomatic negotiations were entered upon Sir John Simon recalled that, in November, the conference found itself unable to proceed to a second reading of the draft convention with any solid hope of thereby reaching a universal agreement. "Germany was absent and some method had to be found to keep her in touch in the hope of bringing her back within the ambit of discussion and negotiation, with a view to an ultimate agreement. For an international agreement about armaments necessarily involved amongst other things, that Germany should be a party to it."

DIFFERENT VIEWS.

The French Government, in a memorandum of March 19th, expressed concurrence with the phrase in the previous United Kingdom memorandum that the reconciliation of the points of view of France and Germany was an essential condition of a general agreement.

What, he asked, were the essential differences which divided these two points of view as they emerged from the documents exchanged between the various powers?

In its statement of views of April 16th, the German Government defined the rearmament for which it stipulated in the proposed convention, at the same time declaring that it would agree to a postponement of the reduction of the armaments of other powers until the end of the fifth year of a ten years' convention.

GERMANY'S CLAIM.

If, therefore, an international agreement was to be reached, either their claim must be modified or conceded. If they really desired to do business in the conference it was essential that the issue should be faced and dealt with now by those principally concerned.

Germany claimed that the convention, if it followed the general lines already approved by the vote of General Commission, should accept a level of German armaments higher than that provided in the peace treaties to the extent indicated in the document of April 16th.

FRENCH STAND.

On the other hand, it appeared from the documents that France would desire to stand fast by the limits suggested at the meeting of the Bureau on October 14th last, with the modification contained in the French memorandum of January 1st.

Suggestions made in October propounded a basis which would have admitted of no immediate rearmament of Germany other than an increase in quantities proportionate to a gradual transformation of the Reichswehr and the arms which she was, by treaty, entitled to possess.

Germany had rejected that suggestion and the contrast between that proposal and the formulated requirements of Germany of April 16th was obvious.

Were these suggestions, in the present circumstances, a possible basis of an international agreement?

The Conference would make no progress by avoiding or burying these crucial points beneath merely general observations.

BRIDGE BUILDERS.

His Majesty's Government had done their very best to be bridge builders.

By end of this general debate they ought to see more clearly where the foundations for such a bridge must be laid if the gap was to be closed. They could see already how overwhelmingly grave the consequences must be if after all this effort and these prolonged debates, no bridge could be built.

In the opinion of the British Government, the draft convention which the conference had adopted as the basis still afforded the best solution. Realising, however, the serious consequences of failure to reach an agreement they determined to formulate the modifications which found expression in the memorandum of 29th January.

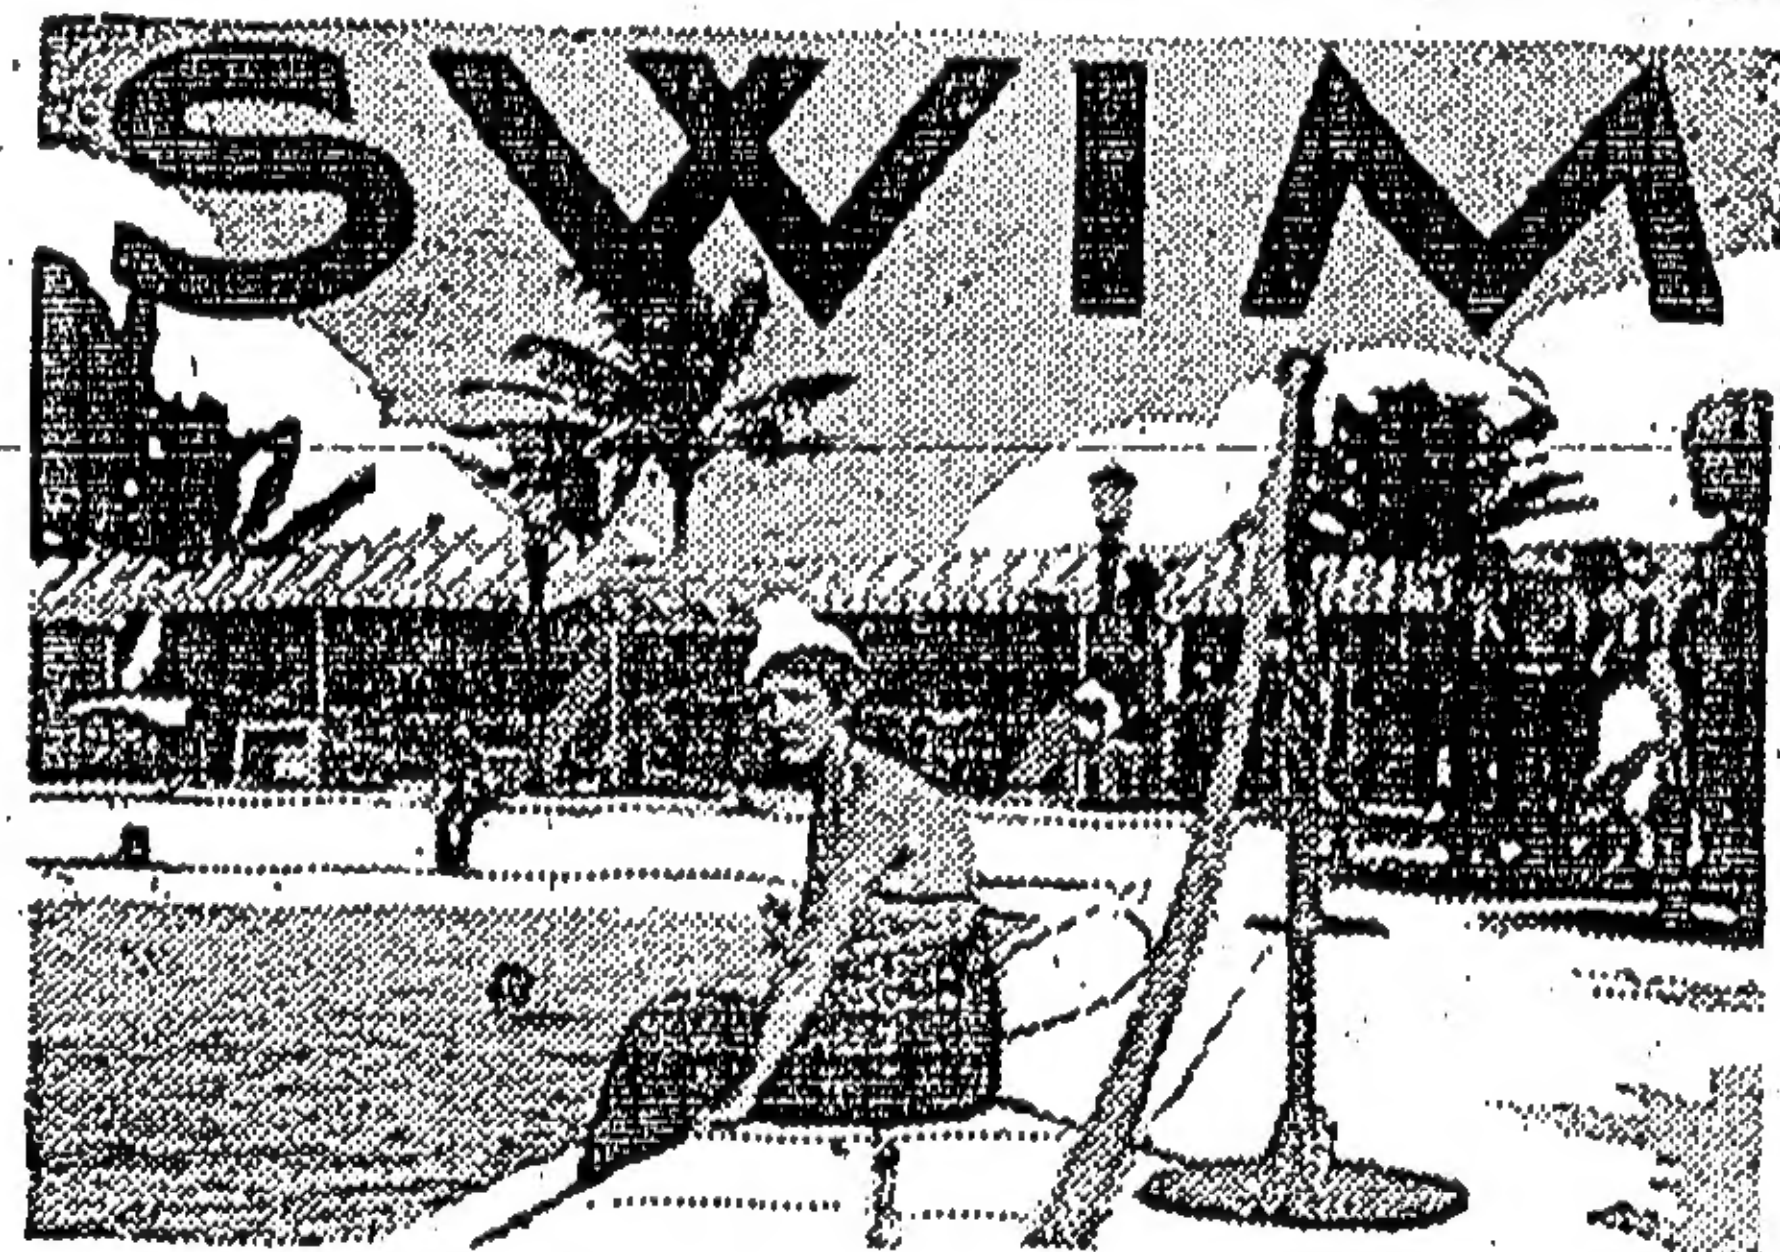

It contained proposals regarded not as ideal, but as most likely of acceptance. The close approximation between that memorandum and the German declaration showed that the differences were being narrowed.

CONCRETE PROPOSAL.

The British Government felt that the line of that memorandum was more likely to produce an agreement than any other concrete proposal.

His Majesty's Government were strengthened by the most interesting memorandum put forward by the Danish, Spanish, Norwegian, Swedish and Swiss delegations, the main conclusions of which seemed to be in close accord with those of the United Kingdom memorandum.

It was true that in the view of these powers, security should go beyond the proposals of United Kingdom memorandum. That was a question not of principle, but of degree, and he pointed out that Part One of the United Kingdom draft convention dealt with security among lines on which they might hope for the sympathy and the co-operation of the United States.—British Wireless.

MARRIED FLIRTS

kitchen, popping corn." Tom told her. "It's eight o'clock. Your father's talking about wanting supper."

"Supper!" Gypsy cried, appalled. "We only left the table a moment ago."

"You've lost count," Tom jibed. He pulled her to her feet.

Arm in arm, they joined the group in the kitchen. Beatrice had her red silk frock covered by a tent-like apron. She was alluring broad. Mr. Morell withdrew his head from the icebox door.

"We're scrambling for supper," he told his eldest daughter. "Come and help."

Gypsy said she couldn't eat a bite. She felt like a Strasbourg goose already. But when at last the impromptu feast was spread, she found herself nibbling at bits of things. A wing of the ravaged bird, a buttered roll.

"Oh, this hot tea is heaven. Mums! I always forget how much I love tea."

Cousin Lou beamed. "Try some of this fruit cake, Gypsy. It's Grand Aunt Mildred's recipe."

Gypsy laughed helplessly. This was Christmas, after all. She would go back to bread and milk on the morrow to make up her dietary sins.

At 10 o'clock she and Tom pulled themselves and their various belongings together.

"Night, Mums. Such a good day, darling. Night, Daddy. Remember you're all coming to my place next week."

"Sunday, yes," Mrs. Morell said comfortably. "I decline. I think it's too much for you, Gypsy. Better let it go."

"Nonsense. I'll expect you." There were kisses all around and then the door closed and she and Tom were in the little car together.

"Ber!" Gypsy held her fur collar high. The wind was bitter now, sweeping across the flats.

Tom tucked the robe in around her. If only he'd been able to buy her that fur coat! Maybe next year.

Gypsy pushed the thought of Saturday far back in her mind. She'd have to make some excuse to Tom for not meeting him that afternoon. What should she say? She hated lies, but this was one which had to be told.

POLICE EVACUATE.

OLD NO. 8 STATION TO BE DEMOLISHED

Sub-Inspector Mist, officer-in-charge, Sergt. Slater, Sergt. Wexland and the Weihsaiwei and Indian policemen stationed at the old No. 8 Police Station (Upper Levels) at Bonham Road, evacuated yesterday, as the building is to be demolished. A new structure is being erected in the near future.

The old building was originally the Rheinisch Mission and then became the Police Training School for many years, until 1927, when the present Training School building at Mongkok was established.

The European Police officers who evacuated yesterday have been transferred to Police Headquarters at Central Police Station, while the Chinese and Indians are being housed in huts in the vicinity of the Government Civil Hospital.

POPPY CULTIVATION IN CHINA

REPLY TO CRITICISM

Geneva, May 30.
Mr. Victor Hoo, Chinese delegate, speaking before the Opium Advisory Commission to-day in reply to Mr. Fuller's attacks, said that unfortunately he was unable to report any improvement in the situation which had recently become aggravated in China. However, China was determined to carry on the struggle against opium and would welcome any technical assistance of the sort suggested by Mr. Fuller.

Mr. Hoo emphasised that China was more menaced by foreign drugs, clandestinely introduced into her territory, than other countries were threatened by Chinese products. He proposed, first, that the powers should not protect their nationals engaged in illicit traffic; and, secondly, that measures be taken against foreign vessels employed in coastal and river navigation which were engaged in the narcotic trade.—

POSTAL FACILITIES IN N.T.

PRESENT SYSTEM, EXPLAINED

POLICE STATION
ARRANGEMENTS

Replying to questions by the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall in the Legislative Council this afternoon, regarding the adequacy of postal facilities in the New Territories, the Hon. Colonial Secretary said:

The only direct departmental services maintained in the New Territories are furnished by a postman attached to the office of the District Officer, North, Tai-po, who serves Tai-po Market and by a travelling postman who proceeds by train daily to Sheung Shui and thence by bus to Un Long where he effects local delivery, collection and sale of stamps.

Otherwise the New Territories is served from the various Police Stations which exchange closed mails with the General Post Office daily and which effect district deliveries and sale of stamps in addition.

The particular districts referred to other than Tai-po Market and
Un Long namely: Tsun Wan,
Castle Peak, Kam Tin, Sheung Shui and Sha Tin are served by the Police Stations.

NEW OFFICES.
Post Offices are shortly to be established at Un Long and Tai-po Market. In this year's Estimate provision has been made for the renting of suitable premises and for a staff of one clerk and two postmen for each office. In due course the present system will be progressively re-

FRANCE AND LOAN DEFAULTS

TARIFF SURTAX POSSIBLE

COMPLICATIONS FEARED

Paris, May 30.

International reprisals may follow a special French tariff which is now under study.

The Government, it is understood, is contemplating the presentation of a Bill to the Chamber providing for the imposition of a special surtax on imports from countries which have defaulted on their loans.

The proceeds would be devoted to paying off arrears in the debts to French bondholders.

It is understood that the French Government is chiefly concerned about defaults on Far Eastern bonds, and particularly those issued by Tokyo.

City and trade circles are of the opinion that the Bill would encounter stiff opposition in Parliament as it would entail international complications, raising the question of treaty rights.

It might conceivably also lead to reprisals by the United States for the war debt default.—Reuter.

placed by direct service from the Postal Department. It is also to erect pillar boxes at Tsun Wan, Castle Peak and at five other points in the Territories.
Many residents in the New Territories have their correspondence intercepted at the General Post Office and delivered at their town addresses.

MR. OLIVER AUSTIN

DIRECTOR OF MUSIC IN BOURNEMOUTH

SUCCEEDING SIR DAN GODFREY

The many friends of Mr.
Frank Austin, Hongkong manager of Messrs. S. J. David and Co., will be pleased to learn that his nephew,
Mr. Richard Dennis Oliver
Austin, has been appointed Director of Music to the Bournemouth Corporation, in succession to Sir Dan Godfrey.

The appointment, which takes effect from October 1, carries with it a commencing salary of £1,000 a year.

Mr. Austin, who is 31, is at present conductor at the London Coliseum. He studied at the Royal College of Music, and in 1928 was musical director of the Bristol Orchestra, and subsequently conductor of the Bristol Symphony Orchestra. The Christmas production of Hansel and Gretel at the Cambridge Theatre was also conducted by him. His father is Mr. Frederick Austin, the well-known singer, composer, and operatic director.

Sir Dan Godfrey, who will retire at the end of September, has been associated with the Bournemouth Municipal Orchestra for over 40 years. Starting with a small military band in 1893, he fostered interest in music in Bournemouth until he was ultimately able to build up a symphony orchestra which has made Bournemouth the chief centre of musical activity on the South Coast.

CHINA AND JAPAN

ARIYOSHI RETURNS TO SHANGHAI

Shanghai, May 30.
Mr. Ariyoshi, the Japanese Minister to China, arrived this afternoon.

Interviewed by Reuter he declared that he had not yet decided when to see General Huang Fu (Chairman of the Peiping Military Council) or when he would be going to Nanking. He denied having received special instructions from the Japanese Foreign Office with reference to the resumption of through traffic on the Peiping-Liaoning line. He said that the issue should be settled between the Kwantung army and the Chinese local authorities.

Japan hopes that the Chinese Government can liquidate her debts to Japan but is not proper to make definite demands, said
Mr. Ariyoshi.

Referring to direct negotiations, the Japanese Minister said that up to the present, the two countries had been negotiating directly. There was nothing particular in such negotiations.

Japanese feeling toward China was improving lately and he hoped that China would recede to that attitude.

Mr. Ariyoshi said that the Japanese leaders were at one in policy towards China, although they differed considerably regarding internal problems.—Reuter.
